Nine Injured in County Road Mishaps

MANITOWOC — Traffic accidents in Manitowoc County Saturday and Sunday injured nine persons, none seriously.

Five of the injured were hurt in a three-car pileup one mile west of Manitowoc at the junction of Highways 10-141 and P in the rain at about 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

Automobiles involved were driven by City Alderman Anthony P. Gollata, 55, 1336 S. 26th St., Manitowoc; Evelyn Hultman of Ada, Minn., and John Q. Hutterer Sr., 62, of Rt. 2, Manitowoc.

The injured included Gollata, who complained of a headache, whiplash and bruised left knee; his wife, Evelyn, 54, whiplash and laceration to head; his son, Terrence, 21, whiplash; Hutterer, bump to the head, and Mrs. Hutterer, 58, head laceration. All were taken to Holy Family Hospital for treatment.

Extensive Damage

County police reported that the Hultman woman stopped on the highway behind another woman driver who was waiting for the traffic to clear so that she could make a left turn off 141. Hutterer slid into the Gollata car and pushed it into the rear of the Hultman vehicle. There was extensive damage to the Gollata and Hutterer cars.

New Alderman

The election of a new 13th Ward alderman will be the first order of business Monday night, because the vote on the awarding of the bond bid will follow, and the new alderman thus will be qualified to vote on this matter, Mayor Rand said.

The $1,500,000 bond issue bids will be opened at 11 a.m. Monday at city hall. The bonding total includes $1,000,000 for sanitary interceptor sewer work, $125,000 for Lincoln High School plant expansion, $275,000 for the 8-classroom addition to Andrew Jackson Elementary School and $125,000 to acquire land and facilities for the University of Wisconsin Extension center site at South 10th and Viebahn streets.

Mayor Calls Special Meeting on Elks Offer

MANITOWOC — Mayor Robert J. Rand Thursday morning announced he has called a special meeting of the Common Council for 7 p.m. Friday at which the sole order of business will be a decision on whether or not the city should accept the Elks Lodge 687 offer to sell its clubhouse at 809 S. Eighth St. to the municipality for $66,800 as a community center.

Mayor Rand also announced that up to 12 noon Thursday a total of five residents had filed applications for the office of alderman from the 13th Ward. Common Council members, at their regular meeting Monday night, will elect the new alderman for that ward by secret ballot. The vacancy occurred when the council accepted the resignation of Leroy Ziarnik from this post, due to the complexity of his job and the amount of travel involved therein. Whoever is elected to fill the post will serve until April, 1963, when he will have to stand for re-election.

Candidates Listed

The candidates so far include Anthony F. Gollata of 1336 S. 26th St., a method supervisor at Manitowoc Shipbuilding Inc.; Dale H. Leiker Jr., of 1706 Grand Ave., a tool designer at Imperial-Eastman Corp.; Joseph J. Frozena of 1908 Columbus St., a pattern maker at Manitowoc Engineering Corp., William G. Lalko of 1304 S. 21st St., an employe in the malthouse of Wisconsin Malting Co.; and Edward J. Boprey of 1604 S. 17th St., a draftsman at Manitowoc Shipbuilding Inc.

"Some of the aldermen requested the special meeting", Mayor Rand said, at a press conference called for the purpose of announcing the meeting. He said the reason for their requests was that they would not be able to attend Monday night's regular council session. A two-thirds majority — that is, 10 aldermen — must be present for a quorum, which evidently is assured for Monday night, at which the important secret balloting on the 13th Ward alderman vacancy and awarding of the bid on the $1,500,000 bond issue will be among the items on the agenda.

No Asking Price

Mayor Rand noted that special meetings of the council can see legal action taken on only the specific subjects for which these meetings are called. He mentioned this when asked if the offer to sell the Vets Club to the city, for community center purposes, would also be acted upon during Friday night's meeting. Mayor Rand said he was told by the post commander that a meeting of Vets Club officials Wednesday night ended without any asking price for the club being determined.

Mayor Rand was also asked how many councilmen are also Elks Lodge members. He is a member and so are Aldermen Edward Steckmesser, Charles Sindelar and Allan J. Kortas, Mayor Rand replied.

Woman Creates Greeting Cards Using Only Her Lone Left Hand

By SYD HERMAN
Staff Writer

KIEL — Put yourself in this position — you are a girl — 19, on the threshold of life. The car in which you are a passenger hits an icy spot in the road, it skids, hits the shoulder and as it rolls, the door flips open. Your arm goes out and as the car flips the second time the door slams on your arm. And when you finally come out of the shock you find yourself in a hospital bed. Everything is pretty much as it was before—until you discover that your right arm is missing. What would you do?

Life had never been easy for Alice Franz. This happened to her at 19. And as she lay in that hospital bed at Two Rivers that bleak day in 1930 the same thoughts went through her mind that must be going through yours when you search for a logical answer now.

Transfers Hands

Born on a farm located about midway between Shoto and Mishicot she was educated in the old Jefferson No. 2 District school and later attended the Holy Cross Catholic School at Mishicot for two years. To get there, she and her sister had to walk four miles across fields deep in winter snow. After she finished grade school she went to work as a housemaid at the residence of a Manitowoc doctor. She was naturally right-handed.

But in the bleak days in the hospital after the accident she marshalled her thinking and began translating right hand functions to left hand operation. It wasn't easy. Hamilton Manufacturing Co. sent her a drawing board and thumb tacks and she went to work.

Today, if you looked at her accomplishments you would never believe that their creator uses only her left hand. She creates original greeting cards from pressed flowers and weeds placed artistically on color-wash backgrounds and seals them in plastic. There are those who believe they will eventually become collectors' items. You can buy them for what a good commercial printed card might cost — or less. Her paintings are beyond description.

How did she do it?

Rebuilds Health

Two years after the accident she was married to Louis Brunner and the couple moved to Sheboygan where they opened a store. They separated 16 years later and she went to Florida on doctor's orders to rebuild her failing health.

But homesick for the climate of her birth she returned to Wisconsin after a year and a half and found work as housekeeper for inventor Dirk Van Sleek at his country estate in the Town of Schleswig. Here she worked for 10 years, then purchased a farm home on land adjoining Van Sleeks.

At the end of a long, climbing, dead-end road set back quite a piece from the town road she lives atop a Kettle Moraine hill where the crickets chirp, migrating geese almost brush the rooftop and the fall colors look like a giant artist's pallet.

Concentrated Course

Here she felt the need for something creative to occupy her time — her health made regular work out of the question now. She took a concentrated course in oil coloring of photographs at a Minnesota school but eventually found it was work with long hours if volume was the object. She graduated to a love of oil painting and while purchasing supplies at Al Mayo's art shop in Kiel one day, Mayo interested her in joining an art course being taught by Geoffrey Jenkinson, a famous English artist who had come to Kiel to visit a war buddy and who had decided to stay here.

She recalls that she made her first painting on the back of a windowshade because it was cheaper to work with than canvas. The interest in art forms which Jenkinson taught her to observe brought to her attention the dainty forms and shapes of small portions of weeds and tiny, almost microscopic wild flowers as she walked to her mailbox each day. Soon she began carrying a basket and picking the interesting plants. She placed them between the leaves of old mail-order catalogs to dry and press. After they were dried and rigid she experimented placing them in artistic arrangements on white cards. Later the simple arrangements became more elaborate and she began making color washes on the cards to induce moods.

Personality in Work

A thin sheet of imported contact plastic now protects the plants to prevent them being brushed off or broken and the Christmas cards have the familiar "sparkle" compound added for the wintry touch.

She projects a part of her personality into her work and you find it grows on you. You buy a card or two as a novelty but find that the oftener you look at it, the better you like it. No two are the same. There is design and pattern. She starts with greenery, then adds blossoms and petals, usually very tiny flowers, none bigger than wild plum petals.

She does her major work two hours after supper in the evening. Because of a heart condition she rests several hours during the day. She lives alone with her Chihuahua, "Daisy".

But she still has grit and determination. She paints her own home — all except the difficult places to reach. These the neighbors drop in and give her a hand with. She keeps a vegetable and flower garden. In her spare time she exhibits her cards and her paintings at places like the Wade House craft shows at Greenbush.

IMMORTALIZED — Mrs. Brunner's dog, "Daisy", is a willing subject but gets kind of tired of holding the head high for a portrait. Painting is a form of relaxation for the artist and she sandwiches sessions in between caring for her house and garden. She tackles almost any subject and the rooms of her house are filled with colorful scenes and portraits. (Photos by staff photographer)

THIS IS THE WAY—When she has gathered fern fronds, small weeds and weed blossoms and pressed them in heavy books, Alice Brunner lays them out on a white tablecloth and begins assembling them in groupings on white cards or cards tinted with water-color washes. The final grouping is covered with thin transparent imported plastic which adheres on contact to protect the finished card. The pails in the background are filled with stones and are used to effect complete adherence.

ARTIST, TOO—When she isn't busy gathering weeds or processing them for use in her greeting cards Alice Brunner paints to relax. The pictures she turns out would do credit to a talented artist with all facilities yet she does them with only her left hand. This portrait has won several awards in exhibitions. Mrs. Brunner is a self-taught artist excepting for night classes at Kiel.

Bars, Taxes, Industry, Schools Discussed at Political Forum

MANITOWOC — Issues ranged from teen bars to taxes to new industry and back to school problems during an informal political open forum Monday night in studios of Radio Station WOMT. Several candidates for city offices in the upcoming April 4 spring election participated in the live program sponsored by the Manitowoc League of Women Voters.

The program was monitored by Mrs. J. Warren Schultz, a director of the League.

Both mayoralty candidates—incumbent Walter Koepke and Robert J. Rand — expressed growing concern of the "teenage beer bar" problem.

Beer Bar Question

Other candidates appearing included incumbents John C. Danielson and Mrs. Gilbert Rankin and Dr. Nathan S. Davis Jr., and Louis J. Vits, candidates for offices of school commissioners from the city; incumbent Kenneth W. Hendrick and Alfred E. Rathmann, candidates for post of alderman from the Second Ward; Robert E. Wolfe, candidate for alderman from the Sixth Ward; incumbent Donald J. Coons and Leonard Robichaud, candidates for alderman from the city's 14th Ward.

Incumbent Alderman Charles A. Cizek from the Sixth Ward was ill and could not participate, according to reports.

Mayor Koepke, leading off on the question of teenage beer bars, said, "We in the City of Manitowoc have no jurisdiction since the bars are located outside the city limits. Perhaps we could eliminate these bars by allowing those persons over 18 to frequent the regular bars. If a youth of 18 is old enough to fight (in the armed services) perhaps he is old enough to go into a tavern and have a beer."

Nothing New

Candidate Rand was of the opinion that this problem "is not new and probably will never be completely solved. I look upon these persons in the 18-to-21-year bracket as the forgotten age. Perhaps we should do a little more in the way of recreation for this age group," he suggested.

On the question — Should members of the Council Finance Committee be invited to sit in on Board of Education budget sessions? — brought unified response from candidates for the two offices of school commissioners.

"I see no objection," Danielson commented. "All school board meetings are open to the public anyway. Maybe it would be advantageous if more persons and civic groups became more interested in school board activities."

"I feel it would be a good idea," said Mrs. Rankin. "Perhaps it would help in ironing out misunderstandings. I agree that more persons should be interested in school and city government."

Need for Education

Dr. Davis pointed to the great need for education in today's world. "There exists good education in the city. It is the responsibility of the board to continue to provide leadership along these lines."

Candidate Vits said, "We must never lose sight of the tax dollar. I have an earnest desire to get the most out of the tax dollar in the field of education."

All four candidates agreed that a continuation of the best possible education program is a "must" for the City of Manitowoc.

Second Ward Alderman Hendrick outlined the work of a councilman. "I look forward to the establishment of better bathing facilities in the city. In Lake Michigan we have a natural condition. I am highly in favor of establishing a beach for our youngsters."

Candidate Rathmann pledged to "work for progress in the Second Ward and in the city. You — the voters — are customers and in any type of salesmanship the customer must be satisfied. I believe in a more efficient method of getting information to people of the city and especially people of the Second Ward."

New Industry

Candidate Wolfe pointed to the fine progress made by the City of Manitowoc. "It could be better, of course." His pledge called for an attempt for new industry and working for business and education and the taxpayer. "Manitowoc is an ideal place to live, work and play and bring up a family," he concluded.

Incumbent Coons called for a central purchasing agent in city government. "Cost of operation could be reduced by that method. I am also working for a closer association between the voter and the alderman." Coons also pointed to his ideas for the re-warding of the city and rezoning steps that would benefit residents of all wards.

Candidate Robichaud stated that the big problem today is financing. "I realize that tax raises must come but great care must be taken to see that we get full dollar value for money spent for city and school government." He added that he had served as a member of the Council for several terms prior to 1959.

Sewer Program

Incumbent Gollata proposed extension of storm sewer program and a truck route for heavy traffic in the 13th Ward. "The present street lighting program and street improvements are going along well but we can do more." Gollata called for a city-wide review of all budget requests. "This could tend to cut waste in some instances. We can make the 13th Ward and the city a better place in which to live," he concluded.

Candidate Ziarnik called for "new industry, more jobs and more people working. If I am elected your problems will be my problems. I stand for the wise spending of the tax dollars — your dollars."

Incumbent Jirikovec pledged support of "efficient city government. I have refused to yield and vote for an issue which I feel may be harmful to residents of the 14th Ward and the city as a whole. I have always been open to suggestions and pledge to continue to fight for what I believe to be right for the people of the ward and city."

Terrific Competition

Candidate Waak called for the installation of the city manager type of government or — "more powers to a strong mayor form of government. I would be for either type. I am more than an interested spectator and would gain a great amount of satisfaction out of doing something constructive for the City of Manitowoc and its peoples."

On the question of attracting new industries at Manitowoc, Mayor Koepke commented, "We must realize the terrific competition all over the country in attracting new industry. We also must look to the back door, too, so that we do not lose any of the industry we now have. We must see to it that local industry has opportunity for expansion and growth. We haven't done too badly in the past."

'Balanced Diet'

Rand, touching on the subject of new industry, pointed to the importance of good schools, good government, favorable zoning, shopping and residential areas in attracthing new industry. "We must not lag but continue forward with what you might call a 'balanced diet' and favorable climate for further industrialization in our city."

In another series of questioning, Mayor Koepke suggested the creation of office of a full-time comptroller at Manitowoc. "City business is big business and we are large enough to have a position of this kind."

Rand asked for a good vote in the election Tuesday. "We must watch ever increasing expenses, offer a plan for attracting new industry and help present industry expand and enlarge," he said.

CANDIDATES — Incumbent Anthony F. Gollata (left) and Leroy Ziarnik will be candidates for the aldermanic post of Manitowoc's 13th Ward during spring election scheduled April 4. Gollata received 280 votes in primary balloting Tuesday. Ziarnik came up with 452.

Early Manitowoc County History

(Episode 32)

By JOHN HARMON

Town of Mishicot in Manitowoc County was named in honor of Ottawa Chief Mishicot (meaning hairy legs). The chief was grandfather of Chief Benjamin Y. Mexico's mother.

First settler was Daniel Smith who, in 1844, erected a saw mill on Section 5 of the township which at that time, was included in the Town of Two Rivers. The area was carved from Two Rivers in November of 1852 and an election held. Albert Borcherdt was voted first chairman with Lorenze Peterson serving as clerk.

In 1853, a large number of Saxons settled in the township and their vote produced enough weight to change its name to Saxonburgh. But, in 1854, with the advance of Oldenburgers and Rhenish Prussians the tables were turned and name of Mishicot was restored — to stay.

First Teacher

George Peterson, a tough task master, was teacher of the first school established in the township in 1839.

Among earliest settlers were J. Trossen, J. Scheuer, J. Schmidt, J. Runge and N. Trossen who all arrived in 1847.

Al Smith and Ira Clark, businessmen with an eye to the future, constructed a saw mill on East Twin River in the southern part of the township in 1855. They had no immediate intention that a town be established there but people moved in anyway.

For want of a better name, the little settlement was called Village of Mishicot. Charles Tisch, D. H. Van Valkenburgh and Lafayette Smith moved in to establish businesses in the village.

Shingle Mill

The tiny community grew quickly. In a short time it boasted a shingle mill, planing mill, a bank, four inns, two blacksmith and wagon shops, a shoe shop, two cigar factories, town hall, fire department, two cheese factories, a grist mill, three general stores, three churches and two butcher shops.

Valkenburgh took note of the rapid growth. "Wal — perhaps we should incorporate and become a village — mebe a big city someday," he commented.

Village of Mishicot was "on the map" with start of daily mail service to and from the Village of Two Rivers — eight miles to the south.

By Mishicot boasted an electric lighting plant, its dynamos operated by water power, and an opera house. Population had been hiked to 400.

Charlie Tisch followed the timber line north and started a saw mill at the northern limits of the Town of Mishicot. The place almost immediately became known as Tisch Mills and settlers began moving in and building homes.

Rich Farmland

By 1910 the hamlet contained a grist mill, blacksmith shop, tinship, harness shop, butcher shop, an inn, shoe shop and cheese factory. The settlement lost its post office, however, with coming of rural free delivery.

Meanwhile, more and more people found the Town of Mishicot a good place in which to live. Julian Lindstedt, F. Halberg, J. Mueller, F. Braasch, J. Altmeier, Peter Ray, H. Beyer, B. Soenksen, A. E. Selk, A. Cayo, L. Damon, L. Koehnke and others arrived to take up homesteads on rich farmland of the township.

Farming became major occupation in the town as the forest was pushed back. Farms became well developed and profitable.

Population of the Town of Mishicot rose to 1,534 in the 1910 census.

NEXT — Town of Kossuth.

Gollata Polls 7 of 12 Votes, Rejoins Council

Anthony F. Gollata

MANITOWOC — Anthony F. Gollata of 1336 S. 26th St., a method supervisor at Manitowoc Shipbuilding Inc., and a former alderman of the 13th Ward, Monday night was returned to the Common Council as successor to Leroy Ziarnik, who defeated Gollata in the April, 1961, election, but has had to resign from the council because of the complexity of his job and the travel involved.

Gollata polled seven of the 12 aldermen votes during secret balloting at the outset of Monday night's regular Common Council meeting at City Hall. He thus began immediately to fill Ziarnik's unexpired term, and because the election of a successor to Ziarnik occurred within 90 days of the April 3 Spring election, will serve until April, 1963, before having to stand for re-election.

Other Applicants

Four other applicants filed for the vacated 13th ward alderman post. They included Dale H. Leiker Jr., of 1706 Grand Ave., Joseph J. Frozena of 1908 Columbus St., William G. Lalko of 1304 S. 21st St. and Edward J. Boprey of 1604 S. 17th St. Gollata won the alderman seat on the first ballot, during which Leiker received four votes, Boprey, one and Frozena none. Lalko had withdrawn from contention before the balloting began.

Mayor Robert J. Rand, at a recent special meeting of the council, said that Ziarnik's resignation was not reported out of committee during the Jan. 2 council meeting—the date Ziarnik had asked that his resignation become effective. Mayor Rand also said at that time that Ziarnik would still have been a voting member of the council, until one of the applicants for his 13th ward post was elected, even if the resignation had officially been voted upon and accepted prior to the election of Ziarnik's successor.

On Monday night Ald. Herbert Ansorge asked if Ziarnik could vote during the secret balloting. Ansorge made this inquiry after the council's committee of the whole recommended at Monday night's meeting that Ziarnik's resignation be accepted. The vote was 12-0 in favor of acceptance.

Showed Interest

Mayor Rand replied "no" to Alderman Ansorge's inquiry, but said, that for the sake of the record "we will consider Ziarnik present, and that's all". Ziarnik, who was seated in the audience, later told the council that in the short time he served as an alderman he had received an education "I never could have gotten out of books". Ziarnik said he wished that everyone would try to delve into city politics and know what their aldermen are trying to accomplish.

Just before the secret balloting Mayor Rand had noted that Ziarnik had always shown "keen interest" in municipal affairs and that he certainly hated to see him leave the council.

There were only 12 votes cast during the secret ballot because Ziarnik's resignation had been accepted and Ald. Charles H. Reddin was absent and therefore not voting. Ziarnik was listed as present but abstaining from voting.

In a brief speech following the results of the ballot, the 47-year old Gollata told the mayor and council members, "thank you . . . for your confidence in me. I have had a little past experience and I am going to try to draw on that".

Cub Scout Organizer

On April 8, 1959, Gollata captured the post vacated by the then incumbent Ald. Eugene Revolinsky of the 13th Ward. Gollata defeated Leonard (Curly) Witczak, polling 526 votes to the latter's 491 in the Spring election of that year. In the April, 1961, spring election Gollata was defeated by Ziarnik.

The new alderman and his wife, the former Evelyn Terens of Mishicot, have five children. They include twin boys, Ronald and Donald, 23, a daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Stuiber, 19, of Manitowoc, James, 16, a student at Lincoln High School and Terrence, 13, a student at Washington Junior High School. Their son Donald is an airman 2-c now serving at Lyon Air Force base, France.

Gollata has held various posts in Scouting for the last seven years, and was general chairman of the Pow Wow for Waumegesako Council. He presently is a Cub Scout organizer of this council.

Historical Society Members Enthused by County Village

MANITOWOC — Questionnaires have been mailed to members of the Manitowoc County Historical Society and city and county officials to get som measurement of interest in the historical village project now under consideration by the society.

"To judge by response so far members are enthusiastic about the whole idea and pledge their support," according to Sister Thomas More, president of the society.

Members have been asked whether or not they were interested in working for the establishment of a historical village in Manitowoc County that would serve as an educational instrument as well as a tourist attraction. They were also asked to indicate the kind of support they would be willing to render be it administrative support, physical labor, financial support or moral support.

Suitable Site

Begun by the society during the presidency of the late Joseph Rappel, the historical village project has advanced to the stage of choosing a suitable site. Members are agreed that whatever site is chosen, cooperation with other projects under consideration in the county would be advisable, Sister Thomas More said.

"Several sites are under study. One possibility is a location on a portion of the former Farm Progress Days site. In the event that the fairgrounds are relocated to this area, the village would help to provide a multi-purpose aspect to the endeavor. Consideration has also been given to the possibility of locating on the lake front near the site to be chosen for the submarine memorial, making possible a wider use of that area," she said.

When the historical village project was first introduced, the idea was proposed that a display building be erected to help house exhibits of items produced in Manitowoc County which help to form the economic base of the region.

The problem of financing the endeavor is also up for consideration. The suggestions was made that a foundation be established to which interested persons might contribute.

"Under present plants, the buildings and artifacts to be placed in the village will have relevance to Manitowoc residents. The society has options on several cottages, a church, school and blacksmith shop. The Model Railroad Club is working on a locomotive and depot which will also be a part of the project.

Ruhl Kluczinske, photography committee chairman of the society, has prepared a set of slides on the buildings under consideration for addition to the village as well as on other projects of interest to the community. The collection, now on display at Glen's Camera Shop, will be available to schools for classroom use or to various clubs.

The public is invited to send suggestions on the village to Sister Thomas More at Holy Family College. Those responding to the questionnaire are reminded to include their names and addresses on the blanks.

Vining Ihlenfeld is chairman of the historical village committee of the society. Committee members include Kluczinske, Armond Kueter and Robert Lyman.

Historical Unit Receives Site for Village

MANITOWOC — A donation of 40 acres of land from Mr. and Mrs. Hugo J. Vetting will be used as the site of a historical village.

The property is located on Highway JJ, 4.6 miles west of Manitowoc near the new high school site.

The Manitowoc County Historical Society has for some years been seeking a site for a historical village, according to society president Robert Lyman.

"About two years ago the Manitowoc County Board of Supervisors had promised that the historical village might be located on Manitowoc County Hospital property to the west of the city. However, other issues intervened which held up a final decision. Among these issues was the one involving the future of the Manitowoc County Fair. A Citizens Advisory Committee was named in May and this committee submitted a report to the board, which is now under consideration.

Meets Requirements

"The report suggested a site to the north of Manitowoc and also recommended that the proposed historical village be located on property adjacent to the site of the Manitowoc County activity center," Lyman said.

Recently the Vettings offered to donate to the Manitowoc County Historical Society their property as the site for the historical village.

In a meeting Tuesday evening, the proposal of Hugo Vetting was explained to the membership.

Previously a committee had visited the site and it was the group's feeling that the site met all the requirements that the society had for the proposed village.

Accept Donation

After accepting the donation, the society authorized an attorney to proceed with the legal work involved in the transaction.

"The idea of setting up a historical village is not a recent development of the county society. It was suggested by its first president, Judge Emil Baensch, in 1936. At that time land was acquired in Manitowoc Rapids, which was the site of the first court house and jail, and it was felt that a pioneer village might be designed around this historic feature.

"However, the necessary land for the development of a village adjacent to this plot such as had been planned was not available, so it then became evident that another site would be needed," Lyman said.

Devote Energies

For a number of years the society then devoted its energies in other directions and it was not until about 1960 when Joseph Rappel became president of the society that the project was revived.

Lyman said that in the years intervening the society has acquired several buildings for the proposed village. One of these is the former Niles Presbyterian Church. The depot at Collins has been acquired from the Soo Line Railroad Co. The society also owns a locomotive which is being refurbished. This will also become a part of the village.

There are several log cabins which have been promised to the society along with other buildings.

Lyman has named a number of committees to begin work on various aspects of the project, now that the site has been determined, he said.

Feels 39 Years in Education Was Privilege

(Editor's Note — The following article was written by Miss Florence E. Kuehn, a Manitowoc teacher who will retire at the end of the current school term. Normally a reporter would be assigned to tell about Miss Kuehn and her contributions to the public through her teaching career. However, a reporter, in this instance, might not capture the splendid philosophy which pervades her account nor tell so intimately how she feels about teaching.)

MANITOWOC—I was born in the City of Lake Mills, Wis., in a seven room house which my father built for the total sum of $750. A few years ago this same house remodeled sold for $13,000.

I started my education in the public schools at Watertown, Wis. When I was in the third grade my father sold his business and bought a farm in Fountain Prairie. I received my eighth grade diploma from the Fountain Prairie rural school at the age of 11 years but my parents thought I was too young to go to high school. We lived in a community where most children's education was completed with graduation from the eighth grade, but for some wonderful unknown reason to me then, my parents insisted that their children should have at least a high school education.

Late Every Morning

My sisters and I drove six miles to high school in Fall River, Wis., in a horse and buggy and in the winter we almost froze enroute. I guess we were late almost every morning in the severe weather, but we had a very understanding principal. Then my father rented furnished rooms for the months of January, February and March.

Our high school consisted of one large room and two little makeshift classrooms. In spite of the lack of facilities and no school organizations, we loved school and I graduated valedictorian in 1916.

This same year my parents sold the farm and bought a general store in Cambria. I clerked in the store for six years. During this time I taught a beginners class in Sunday School and decided this was the work I liked best to do.

In 1922, I enrolled at Milwaukee State Teachers College and graduated in 1924 with a kindergaren-primary diploma.

Jobs Scarce

Jobs were scarce and I felt very fortunate to receive a contract to teach in the public schools of Whitewater for the magnificent sum of $1,000 for the year. My superintendent introduced me at a P. T. A. meeting by saying, "We have two kindergarten teachers and Miss Kuehn is both of them." I taught mornings in the high school building and afternoons in the East Side grade school.

In 1928, I came to Manitowoc and am completing my 35th year here. I have taught in the Garfield, Jefferson, Wilson, Washington, and Madison schools. During this time I have taught approximately 2,300 children.

I attended summer schools and took extension courses and received my B. S. degree from Oshkosh State Teacher's College in 1948. I am a member of the national, state, N.E. District and Manitowoc Education associations. I am a member of the First Presbyterian Church and the Buchholz Circle study group. I served the Order of Eastern Star as its worthy matron in 1955 and belong to the Past Matron's Club. I have held various offices in the Aremi, career girls club of O.E.S. Other organization memberships include the Manitowoc-Two Rivers Business and Professional Women's Club, Investors Club of B.P.W., Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, Family Service, Audubon Wild Life Films, Civic Music.

My hobbies include needlecraft and crocheting afghans, needlepoint, art metal crafts and leathercrafts. I taught a class in leathercraft at the Manitowoc Vocational School for three years.

Home Real Hobby

My real hobby is my home. Five years ago I found the house of my dreams—a small ranch type house—just one year old at 1407 North 23rd St. It was just what I had been looking for. It has two fireplaces, an attached garage in a large wooded lot. Since then I have added every modern convenience and I think I live like a queen—a very busy queen. I hope to reign supreme in my lovely home for some years to come and hope to always have open house for my friends.

Florence Kuehn

I hope to do some traveling though not to distant places. I have been to Europe, California, Seattle, Yellowstone, Florida, Canada and to New York and Washington, D. C., three or four times so my anticipated travels will probably take me no further than Iowa, Michigan and Washington, D. C., to visit members of my family.

I come from a teaching family. Eight of the nine children in my family are teachers. My "little brother" is superintendent of schools in Perkins, Mich. The others are presently or have taught in Wisconsin schools. We think there is no more gratifying profession in the world than that of teaching chlidren.

While I am leaving the profession with some regrets, I am grateful to have had the privilege of serving the public for 39 wonderful years.

Mrs. Nora Holtz and Mrs. Alice Zell, on behalf oft he Senior Citizens, thanked the Mishicot Lions for the enjoyable evening by saying, "Everything was just perfect, especially the slide presentation of the history of Mishicot which brought back many memories."

Shady Lane Dedication Draws 4,500

MANITOWOC — An estimated 4,500 citizens of Manitowoc County toured the new Shady Lane Rest Home for Aged at which dedications ceremonies were held at 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

"Comments heard from citizens touring the facility were superlative in their praise of the new home," County Board Chairman Anthony V. Dufek, master of ceremonies for the dedication, reported.

"The happiest people were the senior citizen occupants, who feel they had something to be very proud about," Dufek said.

Part of Program

Participating in the dedication program with Dufek were the Rev. Kenneth Fisk, Community Bible Church, who gave the invocation and benediction, Atty. Fred Dicke, secretary of Shady Lane Executive Committee, who presented the story of the Home; State Senator Jerome A. Martin, former County Board Chairman and Building Committee chairman, who presented a cronology of the project; the Building Committee members who participated in presentation of the new facility and laying of the cornerstone and acceptance of the new structure by Shady Lane and Park Lawn Home officials.

The Building Committee members include County Board supervisors, Dufek, Claude R. Barta, Vernon W. Holschbach, Bernard J. Mahlik Sr., Edwin Klessig, William M. Tisler and Robert E. Tuschl.

Weather Pleasant

Baugniet Remains as Board Chairman

Sheboygan Men Buy Fox Hills Country Club; Motel Planned

MISHICOT — Florenz W. Baugniet, president of Baugniet Enterprises Inc., and Country Clubs Inc., the owner of Fox Hills Country Club, Wednesday announced the reorganization of both groups with the sale of stock to William A. Panke and Lawrence E. Bray of Sheboygan.

The new officers of the firm will be William A. Panke, president-treasurer, Richard Baugniet, son of Florence Baugniet, vice president, and Larry E. Bray, secretary. Florenz Baugniet will remain as chairman of the board, according to the announcement.

Fox Hills Country Club, with its dining facilities, lounge, and 27-hole golf course was completed and began operating in August of 1964 after construction got underway early in 1963, to become one of the outstanding recreational facilities in the middle west. It was the realization of Baugniet's dream back in 1955 to provide such a facility for his community and residents of Northeastern Wisconsin.

Area Leader

"Because of my many commitments and in the interest of my health," Baugniet said Wednesday, "I thought it best to sell and not to participate actively in the operation and expansion of the enterprise in which I have taken so much pride."

Baugniet, longtime operator of one of the state's largest mink ranches, which at one time was situated completely on the present property, has been a leader in his community since young manhood, establishing numerous commercial enterprises in the area and had considerable to do with the residential expansion of the village.

He is one of the earliest presidents of the Mishicot Lions Club, which he helped found, and a member of one of the area's earliest families.

100-Unit Motel, Pool

The new organization announced expansion plans to include a new 100-unit motel with an enclosed swimming pool. These plans, it was announced, are nearing completion and construction is planned to begin within a month for the first 50 units for occupancy by early summer.

Contracts, it was said, are being negotiated locally, using a precast spancrete building system that will see the second floor structure erected in less than two weeks after the foundations are laid.

The motel will feature Valders store stair towers to tie architecturally to the existing club with spacious double rooms fully air-conditioned. The enclosed pool will be complete with whirlpool and sauna bath.

With the new facility, it was explained, the group plans to cater to conventions, conferences and recreational outings. A spokesman said that the new ownership feels that the new leisure time affords the needs for many more recreational areas.

Designated First Club

The present 27-hole golf course and 1,000 seat dining facility and cocktail lounge provides this basis with the new 100-unit motel and swimming pool. There is also planned development of bike and hiking trails, related winter sports and small game hunting.

Panke, the new firm president, is manager-president of Sheboygan's Executive Inn, a 50-unit motel and convention center, and is also owner of Manitowoc's Colonial Inn. He is also an owner with Bray and Carl Wiese of Point Elkhart, a resort on Elkhart Lake.

Bray, a native of Valders, son of the late C. E. Bray, former head of the Valders public school system, heads a Sheboygan architectural firm. Bray is the original designer of Fox Hills Country Club.

Winter Blast Is Followed by Cleanup

March 1st 1972

Cleanup operations continued in Manitowoc County Thursday in the wake of Wednesday's storm. Clear skies and cold temperatures replaced every conceivable brand of weather conditions thrust on residents.

The storm got off the month of March unpleasantly and provided .51 inch of precipitation.

Readings fell below zero locally and throughout the extreme southern portion of the state during the night. The lowest mark was minus 17 at Spooner. Area low was four below zero.

Widespread freezing rain resulted in extreme glazing, and the rain was accompanied by thunderstorm - lightning activity as it changed to sleet and hail during the afternoon.

Moderate to heavy snow fell in much of northern and central Wisconsin and it was accompanied by strong northerly winds which resulted in considerable drifting.

City and county road crews tackled the job of clearing streets and highways again Thursday after working steadfastly the night before to keep roadbeds open.

There were no accidents reported to city police. Capt. Mort Swerdlow of city traffic said that the storm started early enough in the day and that most residents heeded the advice to stay at home if it was not necessary to travel, or used extreme caution if travel was required.

Only a few minor reports were made to county traffic police, mostly cars that slid off roadways into ditches.

Sections of the northwest and northeast Manitowoc were left without power early Wednesday afternoon when the high winds shorted out conductor lines. The outages last from 30 to 60 minutes in some areas, according to Manitowoc Public Utilities officials.

It will be mostly cloudy and quite cold Saturday through Monday with snow likely about Saturday or Sunday.

Residents Visit States at Girl Scout Function

JFK Physical Education Unit, Manitowoc, was a nugget-sized United States over the weekend when some 1,500 Manitowoc Girl Scouts participated in the "Parade of States" Saturday and Sunday.

St. Anne's Church, Francis Creek

380 Units.

The congregation's first church was organized in 1848 by 25 families, speaking German, French and English. Currently the parish has 380 paying units.

The first church, a log building, was erected on site of the present church cemetery and was built under supervision of the Rev. Joseph Brunner, S.J., a traveling missionary. The first sacrifice of the Mass was offered in the fall of 1851.

In the early years, St. Anne's was a mission of Holy Maternity Congregation of Manitowoc Rapids, where Fathers H.J. Nuyts OSC and W. Yonge, OSC, both Hollanders, seided.

The two were succeeded by the Rev. Joseph Maly, who in 1860, established a residence and became the first permanent pastor. He attended the spiritual needs of the Bohemians, traveling to Reedsville, Cooperstown, Tisch Mills and Slovan.

First Rectory

In 1861 Father Maly built a log cabin next to the log church, and in 1864, the first rectory was built.

Father Maly was absent from September to December, 1865, during which time the Rev. August Lang was in charge. Father Maly returned and stayed until August, 1866. The Rev. Leander Schaeffer succeeded him until January, 1867, then the Rev. K.J. Marhan until Sept. 23, 1867, succeeded by the Rev. Fusebius Henzler until July 2, 1869.

Again Father Maly returned as pastor with the Rev. Joseph Fessler of Manitowoc Rapids as a substitute. He remained until Feb. 23, 1873. In June, 1872, the present brick church was erected.

Prior to this time, the parish had numbered 180 families, but diminished to 85, because St. Augustine's, Riefs Mills, was organized in 1865 and St. Joseph's, Kellnersville, in 1870.

The Rev. Ignatius Ritter was pastor from February, 1872, to May, 1875, and during the administration the church interior was completed. Father Abb was here from May to July, 1875.

The Rev. Nicholas Gallweiler became pastor in July, 1875, and remained until April 8, 1877. He, as architect, built the present rectory in 1876 at a cost of $1,268.88.

A tragedy occurred in May, 1876. Before vespers, lightning struck the church tower, demolishing the framework and killed Catherine Kirst and Theresa Lindau, who were sitting outside.

The Rev. Ferdinand Stern, as architect and contractor, built the second school during his assignment from April 22, 1877, to March 8, 1885. It was a two-room school and sisters' home in one building on the north side of the present rectory. Amount allotted for the building was $1,200. Father Stern added a summer kitchen to the rectory and built wooden sidewalks at a total cost of $1,436.17. This caused disension among parishioners due to the cost overrun.

in later years. The Franciscan Sisters of Christian Charity, Silver Lake, started teaching in 1891, and have been teaching continuously there since that time.

Father Stern resigned March 8, 1885, and priests who succeeded him were the Revs. J.N. Voorjon March 21 to Aug. 2, 1885; Frank S. Beck, Aug. 2, 1885 to March 21, 1886; L. Spitzelberger, March, 1886 to May, 1887; George Brunner, Aug. 7, 1887 to Sept. 25, 1889; Matthew Welbes Oct. 5, 1890 to January, 1893.

The Rev. Peter Schmitz was appointed pastor in March, 1893, and commanded by the Rt. Rev. S.G. Messmer, bishop of Green Bay, to build a church at Mishicot, which place was a mission of St. Anne's.

From 1896 to 1901, priests who succeeded one another were the Revs. W. DeHaan, Joseph Mack, Rudolph Lakomy, Joseph Hemmer, John Reck and Sturmis Haertl SDS.

Altar Added

During Father Lakomy's pastorate (December 1897 - August 1900), an altar was purchased and delivered Dec. 22, 1900.

The Rev. J. Vorlicek served as pastor from May, 1901 to July 19, 1906, and was succeeded by the Rev. G.J. Pellegrin July 19, 1906 to June 1908. He repaired the school house.

The Rev. William Braun took over the parish July 30, 1908, shortly after his ordination. During his administration, the present sanctuary and two sacristies were added, making the church 20 feet longer. Work was done in 1911 at a cost of $1775. Father Braun was transferred to Kellnersville in 1914.

From 1914 to 1919, the Rev. Andreas Prochazka was pastor of St. Anne's. He remodeled the rectory in 1917. On Dec. 10, 1917, overheated pipes started a fire in the church. The blaze was extinguished by parishioners coming to church.

Father Prochazka became ill with influenza and died enroute to the hospital Jan. 31, 1919. He is buried in St. Anne Cemetery.

The Rev. Boniface Pendlewski, OFM, filled the vacancy until June, 1919, when the Rev. Joseph Vondrachek was appointed pastor, his first pastorate. He personally did the work of wiring for electric lights, and started plans for a new school.

Incorporated

Articles of incorporation were applied for Jan. 20, 1920, signed by the Rt. Rev. Paul P. Rhode, Green Bay Diocese bishop and Albert Stransky, trustee. Charter was received Feb. 9, 1920. Father Vondrachek was transferred to Holy Trinity parish, Casco, Sept. 16, 1922.

During the Rev. Aloysius Schueller's administration he built the present school which was opened in the fall of 1923. He stayed until September, 1930.

The Rev. Joseph A. Rauch took over the pastorate Sept. 16, 1930. As a new rectory was out of question at this time, he did much of the work of renovating the old one. He connected running water from the school to the rectory and after installing second hand radiators, connected them to the church furnace.

Growth of the parish was steady and numbered 160 families.

In 1948 the outside of the church, school and convent were repaired, including sandblasting, caulking, re-setting bricks and a coat of weatherproof paint.

Bequests to Church

In 1949 the parish received a bequest from the estate of Mary Yankowitz, mother of Father Braun. A Wurlitzer organ was purchased and in 1954 chimes were added, also a gift from this estate.

Three priest-sons of the parish said their first Masses at St. Anne's. The Rev. Reginald Schrimpf, SDS., was ordained at the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, Washington, D.C. and said his first Mass June 11, 1950. The Rev. Raphael Birringer, SDS., was ordained at the shrine June 5, 1951, and said his first Mass at St. Anne's June 10.

Father Reginald's brother, the Rev. Raymond Schrimpf S.D.S., also was ordained in Washington Dec. 8, 1956 and said his first Mass at St. Anne's Dec. 30, 1956.

In 1952 and 1954 additions and redecoration of church property occurred.

Pastoral Change

In the fall of 1954, Father Rauch was on sick leave, and the Rev. Michael McLaughlin, O. Praem, was in charge of the parish. Father Rauch died March 26, 1958, at the rectory and after his funeral Mass in the church he was buried in Sacred Heart Cemetery, Oshkosh.

From the time of Father Rauch's death until the arrival of the Rev. John Haen June 20, 1958, needs of the parish were taken care of by Father Reginald Schrimpf and other Salvatorian Fathers from St. Nazianz. Father Haen's 35th anniversary of ordination was marked by the parishioners and relatives in April, 1967.

During the summer of 1967 the school was completely renovated at a cost of $39,748.85. A year later a new altar was placed in the church, due to liturgical changes.

Plaza Due For Change

The Park Plaza shopping center on Manitowoc's southwest side is undergoing several changes.

The center is located on a 12 acre site facing South 30th Street between Calumet Avenue and Custer Street.

The W. T. Grant Co., one of the center's original tenants, is tentatively scheduled to close Aug. 15 and Margenau Drug Store will move shortly from its present location into quarters formerly occupied by the F. W. Woolworth Co. at the north end of the center.

A Grant Co. spokesman said that the firm was closing several of its stores in Wisconsin and that the Manitowoc store was among them. The firm leased more than 15,000 square feet of space at the south end of the center.

There are eight full-time and three part-time persons employed by the Grant store.

The Hamann Construction Co. has the contract to remodel quarters to be occupied by Margenau Drug Store at an estimated general construction cost of $17,700.

The move by the Margenau store will increase its floor space from 5,400 to 12,100 square feet. The new quarters will have a remodeled front with a colonial design.

The Milwaukee office of James Callan, developer and principal owner of Park Plaza, is negotiating for tenants to lease space being vacated by the Grant and Margenau stores.

When contacted Wednesday, Callan said he had received several inquiries about the two vacancies but that he had nothing official to announce at this time.

Callan has additional property available for development along Calumet Avenue between the Park Plaza and Copps Department Store.

Yes, there are some things bus riding school children will never know, like the safe feeling that comes from knowing there's a climbing tree within running distance when there's a bull around. Come to think of it, there are lots of things:

Like the blended flavor of school lunch carried in a tin bucket. The choking chuckle of priming the pump and the squeak of the rusty pump handle. The rattle and slap of harnessing the horses and the clink and clank of hitching them to the wagon.

Roosters crowing in the morning. The smells of a kerosene lamp, yeast raising buckwheats, saleratus biscuits, sauerkraut working in a stone jar on the back porch. The rustling of a corn shuck mattress. The shifting softness of a featherbed. Gathering corncobs for kindling. Filling the woodbox and the reservoir. Baths in the tin tub behind the stove. Homemade root beer popping its corks in the cellar.

I'm so glad I was young back then. Now I wonder — what are our children's children going to tell their children when they talk about the good old days? —Pearl Swiggum, in the Crawford County Independent,

Cornerstone Yields Items of Interest

MANITOWOC — Contents in the cornerstone of the 1898 wing of Holy Family Hospital now being demolished have been removed and examined by the staff.

Found was a brown envelope postmarked 1948 and addressed to Sister M. Ezra, superior of the hospital sisters in the 1940s. The envelope contained a copy of the Manitowoc Herald-Times dated Wednesday Sept. 22, 1948.

Other contents were more newspapers, yellowed with age, and a copper box two by five by nine inches. On the inside surface of the box the date 8-28-47 was etched. It was recalled by the sisters in 1947, when plans for the present pediatric wing were finalized, the southern portion of the 1898 building was razed to make room for the new structure. The cornerstone was at the time removed from the portion being razed and after Sept. 22, 1948, secured in the segment now under demolition. It is presumed that the newspaper and copper box were added at that time.

Inside the copper box were many relics, medals and other articles of devotion which point to the deep faith and simplicity of the nuns who staffed the first hospital. It is recalled that membership of the Franciscan Sisters of Christian Chariety in its early days (1870s) was enlarged through the addition of those nuns who fled from Germany during the kulturkamp under Bismarck. It is believed that the sisters brought with them relics from the German villages in which they lived.

Translated From Latin

Of interest to historians which the box contained was a thrice-folded document. Although the script was faded and parts of the page badly eroded, most of the message could be deciphered. It was written in Latin script and translated means:

"In the name of God, the Supreme Being, Pope Leo XIII happily ruling over the church when William McKinley was president of the United States; Edward Scofield, governor of Wisconsin; Thomas Torrison, mayor of the City of Manitowoc; Mother Alexia, superioress general of the Franciscan Sisters of Alverno; Peter Holfeltz, spiritual director of the said Sisters; Christian Tozen, architect; and Joseph Peil, John Stoesser, William Hess being the contractors. In the presence of the Rev. Fathers Anthony Decker, August Joseph Geissler, Anthony Rossbach, Thomas Cosgrove, Peter Schmitz, Timothy Regan, Albert Miller, Emmanuel Kabat, Rudolph Lakomy, Joseph Mack, Francis Just, Jerome Schneider, OFM and N. Krzywonos.

"On this 22nd day of September in the year of our Lord, 1898, Frederick Xavier Katzer, archbishop of Milwaukee, solemnly placed this cornerstone of Holy Family Hospital in the City of Manitowoc, Wis., to be erected by the Sisters of Alverno, Manitowoc County, Manitowoc, Wis."

Newspapers Included

The cornerstone also contained copies of four local newspapers, Die Wahrheit, Manitowoc Post, Der Nord-Westen and the Manitowoc Tribune. Also inside were the Excelsior! Milwaukee and Columbia, Catholic Diocesan papers of that day. All papers were printed in German except the English Manitowoc Tribune. At this time, the German papers have not been translated, but in the Sept. 15, 1898, issue, page 3, column 4, an item read:

"Cornerstone to the new hospital will be laid Thursday, Sept. 22. The Most Rev. F. K. Katzer will have charge of the ceremonies and will preach two sermons, one in English and the other in German. The ceremonies will begin at three o'clock in the afternoon. An effort is being made to have the stores closed a part of the afternoon."

The relics and newspapers are presently on display at the hospital. In time, they will be placed in the museum at Holy Family Convent under curatorship of Sister M. Teresita, the community's historian.

A Military Explosive which was known that Wilbert had in his possession

April 16, 1973

Wanish Voices Warning

Due to a recent request from a citizen to dispose of a souvenier military explosive device, Manitowoc County Sheriff Goerge F. Wanish has issued the following advice to area residents:

Most such items are known to be harmless and are kept strictly as souveniers, curiosity items or trophies. If any are not known to be harmless however, they could present a serious danger.

"In such cases, notify your local law-enforcement agency", Wanish said. "A special U.S. Army explosive ordnance disposal unit will then be contacted to render the device inoperative if necessary, and properly dispose of it," Wanish explained.

"This information is not meant to alarm you," Wanish stated, "but rather to remind you to respect possible explosives for what they are and treat them accordingly".

In most cases, items submitted to an Army disposal unit will be confiscated and not returned, Wanish concluded.

New Centrex System Used at HF Hospital

Tues. January 9, '73

MANITOWOC — If you tried Monday to call Holy Family Hospital at the "old" telephone number, you undoubtedly know that the hospital's complete telephone system has been changed.

The new communications system, known as Centrex, went into operation Monday at Holy Family. It allows persons to dial into or out of the hospital without the assistance of a switchboard operator, according to Don Pamperin, manager of the Manitowoc Wisconsin Telephone Co. office.

Pamperin said that the change to Centrex also necessitated a change in the hospital's general telephone number, which has been changed from 682-0181 to 684-2011.

Individual phones in the hospital all carry the same first four digits as the general number (684-2—), while the last three digits correspond to the hospital extension number, Pamperin said.

Throughout Hospital.

Citing an example, Pamerpin said the telephone number of Room 113 is 684-2113, emphasizing that the last three digits (113) would be the extension number for the room.

Pamperin noted that the Centrex system has been installed throughout the hospital, with the exception of the intensive care and pediatrics facilities.

Until hospital departmental numbers appear in the new telephone directory in June, Pamperin said individual numbers can be obtained by calling 684-2011. The caller can then be patched to the extension he seeks.

Pamperin said that this is the first Centrex system in Manitowoc.

Pamperin also noted that the new system now has about 500 numbers or lines in operation, with future expansion capabilities of an additional 500 lines.

Another feature of the new system is dial dictation, which allows doctors to dictate information for patient records over the telephone, Pamperin said.

Improved Service

Calls can originate in the hospital, a patient's home or from the doctor's office. There are three recording machines in the medical records department for this purpose. After the dictation is completed, stenographers transcribe the information from tape to record.

Donald Orleans, Holy Family administrator, said the new system has improved the hospital's telephone service greatly.

"Before we had Centrex, only a limited number of lines were available," Orleans said. "Callers frequently encountered busy signals. We could have added more lines to the old switchboard, but Centrex represents a savings in manpower."

Orleans also said that Centrex brought several convenient features. Included are the abilities to establish three-way conversations and switch calls from phone to phone without operator assistance.

Prior to putting the new Centrex system into operation, Pamperin said Wisconsin Telephone Co. conducted classes for hospital employes and doctors.

"Some of the new features were explained and because employes are now answering incoming calls directly, some had to alter their answering habits slightly," Pamperin said.

Devil's River Campers Park Awaits Those Who Thrive on Abundance of the Untapped

Schlegelmilch Mill Restored

By MICHAEL J. SIBILSKY
Area News Editor

MARIBEL — Devil's River is like a beautiful woman. . . . and a campground shaped here will help accentuate that configuration.

Carving her way through nature's wilderness, she flows with abandon, waiting to be tamed by a gentle whisper from outdoor lovers and prospective tenters alike.

Robert and Doris Lyman, co - owners from Francis Creek, purchased surrounding land from Ervin, sole survivor of the Emil Schlegelmilch estate, and have since lifted a 125 - year - old mill site from the ruins to create the historical haven, complete with general store, office and 100 campsites.

Scenic Beauty

The mill was abandoned in 1934, but beginning Tuesday, June 27, what was once a dilapidated area will be opened to be enjoyed as the old and new join hands.

Dubbed Devil's River Campers Park, about 16 miles north of Manitowoc west of Highway 141, the area is one of rare, scenic beauty unequaled anywhere in Northeastern Wisconsin. Enchanting waterfalls, the source of power in days past for the grist mill, slash through impressive rocks which form part of the nation - wide Niagara Escarpment.

Lyman, for three years president of the Manitowoc County Historical Society until 1972, notes it's easy to imagine Indians roaming here amidst lush cedar woods and the excitement of men attempting to rescue young Lt. Zachary Taylor (later to become our 12th U.S. President) when he fell into the rushing waters while on a hunting trip from old Fort Howard.

Guests of today will have the opportunity to view the time - worn water race and mill exterior, on which weather has exacted its toll. Still in the process of restoration the mill will soon be reopened to reveal the original grindstones, the middling machine, separator, bagger and other apparatus.

Woods, Wildlife

The remains of the old dam are here, too, as is the miller's modest homestad where a family of five boys and four girls grew to adulthood.

In contrast, and new to the acreage are the campsites, each with its own "lawn," picnic table and fire pit. Situated high on a hill overlooking a valley, the sites are surrounded by woods and wildlife.

On Saturday mornings, two area naturalists will be available for a free, guided trail hike, pointing out flowers, ferns, rocks, wildlife and birds native to the locale.

Look closely, and you might see a leprachaun sprinting over the green - padded forest floor, or, when time allows one can just talk to the animals.

Central to the campsites are a new, 42 by 22 foot, heated swimming pool with slide and a concrete utility building housing lavatories, showers and laundry facilities. Sprawling, grassy fields, a playground and ball diamond complete this portion of the park.

Near the park entrance, Lyman has reconstructed an old log cabin with the help of his two sons. Groceries and sundries may be purchased in the little nook that has all the charm of yesteryear. Similarly, an old stone barn no longer provides shelter for cattle, but has a pool table, pinball machines and a jukebox for vacationers.

Log by Log

Lyman and his sons recall hauling the logs for the cabin log by log with tractor, to destination from a point four miles southeast. The cabin was purchased from Louis Mleziva in the Town of Cooperstown.

Among other features of the park are free firewood, sing alongs and Friday night movies for which there will also be no charge. On Tuesday, July 4, family type entertainment will be featured, including a barbershop quartet, sing - along and showing of a patriotic colored film.

To those searching for an escape somewhat to the past while retaining the conveniences and pleasures of the present, Devil's River Campers Park is ideal. Fun and frolic in comfortable surroundings may be intermingled with drinking of cold and clear mineral springs water.

Past Renewed

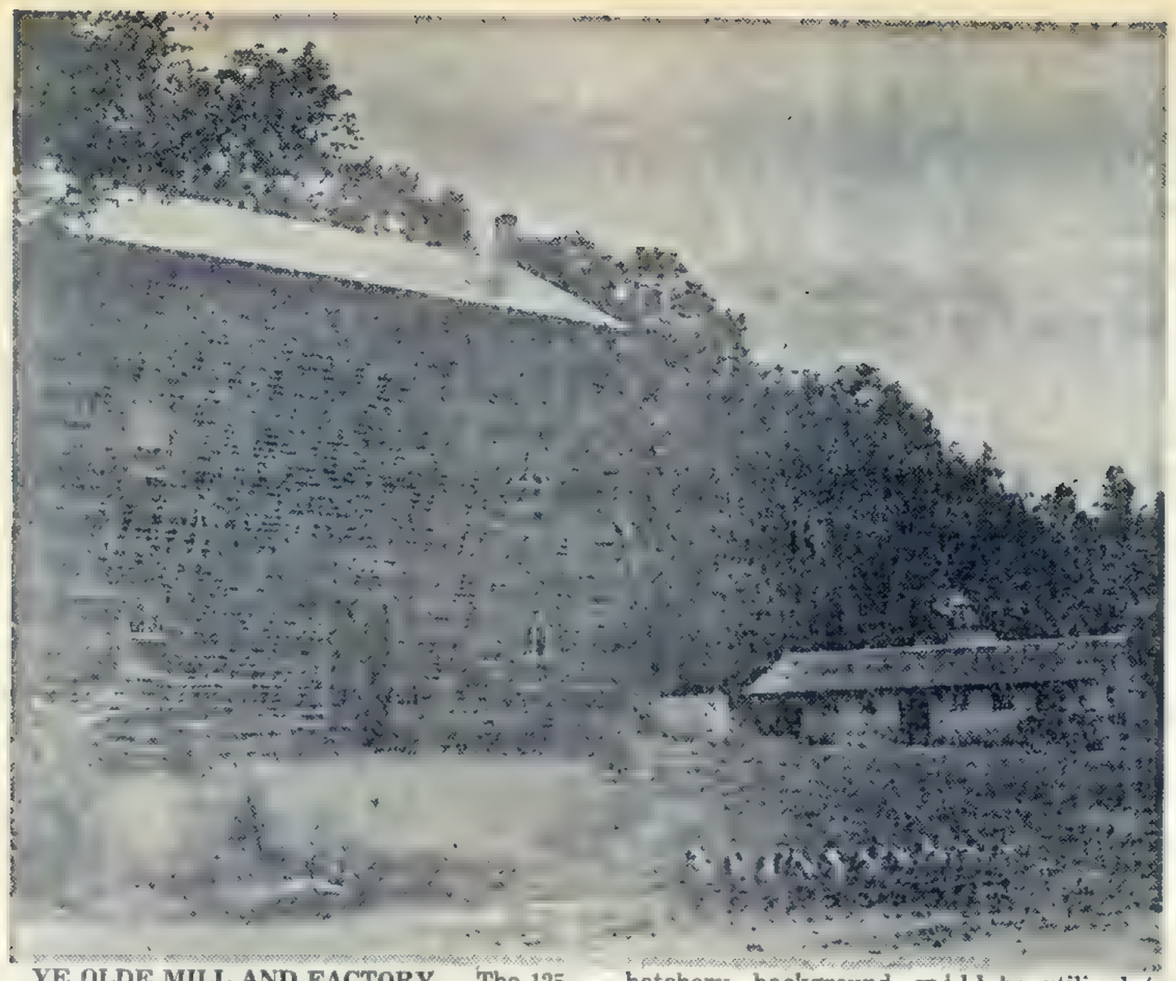
There is a certain mystery of the past which is undaunted here. The river and dam once offered a recreation area, but the area lay dormant and largely untapped for many years, Schlegelmilch history relates. There were years when as many as 300 - 500 people bunched on a Sunday afternoon to reap the abundance.

All this for the most part, has not changed. Wide open spaces and an inkling of a past renewed should attarct the throngs of minds of those who seek relaxation in God's green cathedral.

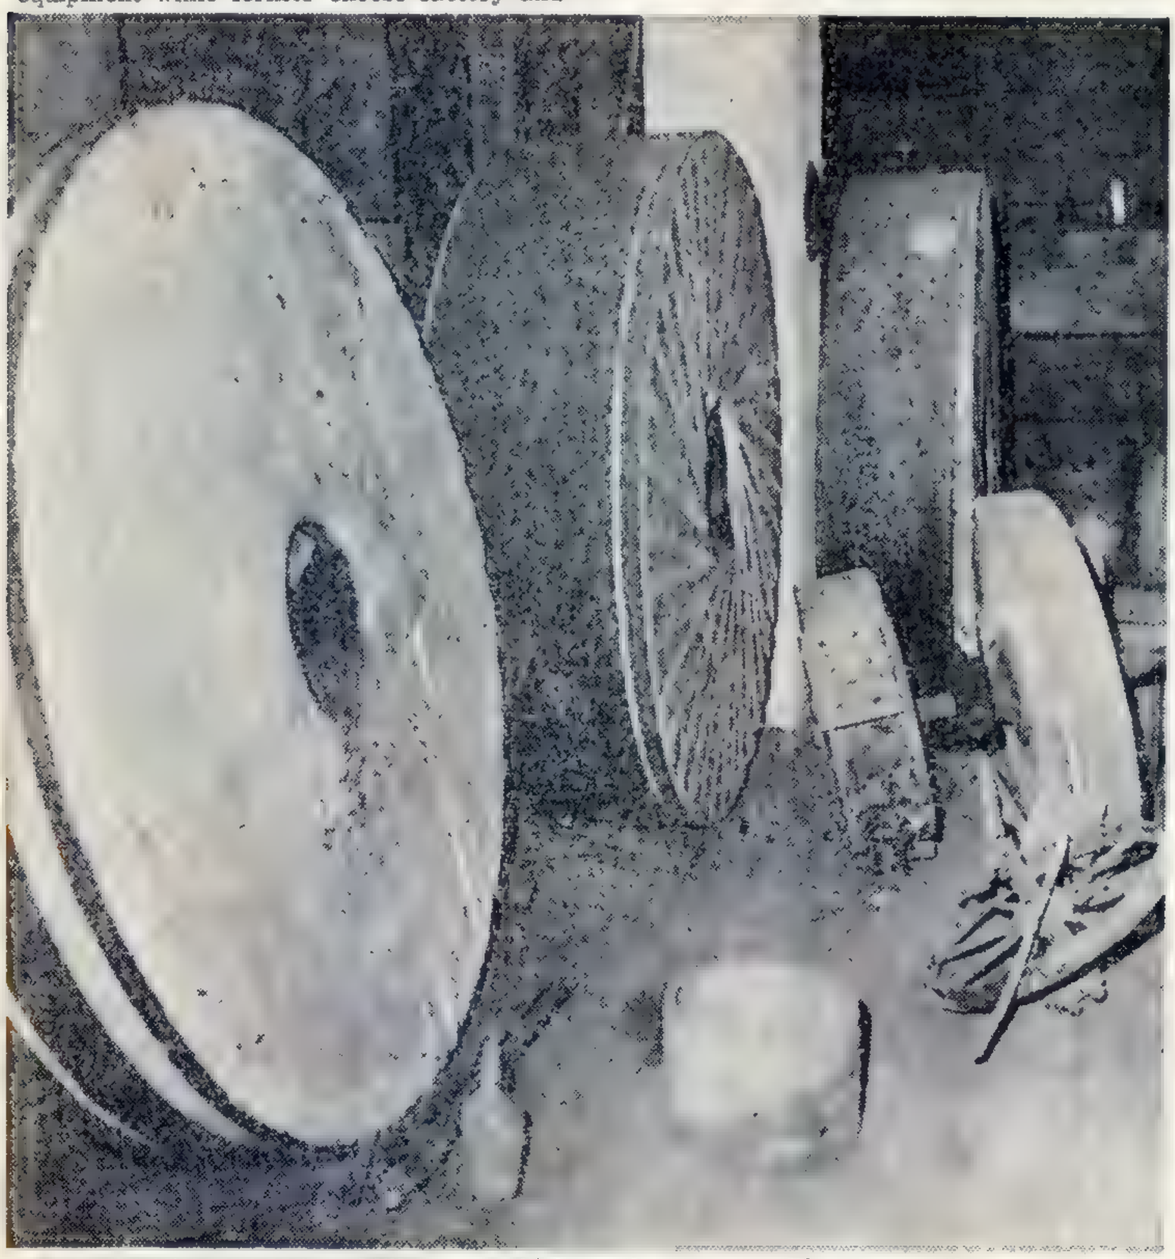
Re - beautification is stressed, but this, too, seems timeless in one of those not so out - of - the - way places where man alone can become master of his environment.

Closing is slated for Monday, Nov. 6, with daily hours from 4 p.m. to 4 p.m. By then, Devil's River Campers Park will have withstood the test of those who ventured to make it all it is today. . . . a land resplendent in its fervor, awaiting the challenges of tomorrow.

'RE(STORED)' — The General Store at Devil's River Campers Park will provoke nostalgic memories and shine on a bit of the past, perhaps most for those who hauled it log by log four miles with tractor after splitting from former site.



YE OLDE MILL AND FACTORY — The 125-year-old Schlegelmilch Mill, left, is in the process of being renovated with its original equipment while former cheese factory and hatchery, background, will be utilized to house pool rooms, ping pong tables and other recreational activities.



MUST WEIGH A TON — Millstones, which reduced grain to flour, will be positioned in their proper position in the Schlegelmilch Mill, in addition to other materials used in the process. The stones, the center one of which weighs 1,200 pounds, came from France many years ago.

Nuclear Plant Compromise Is Reached

KEWAUNEE — Operation of the Kewaunee nuclear power plant at 75 per cent of capacity temporarily has been approved by the Atomic Energy Commission's Safety and Licensing Board.

The AEC will still have to give final approval for fueling and placing in service the nuclear power plant which is expected to be completed in October.

Environmentalists and the utilities which own the $160 million plant reached an agreement on partial operation Wednesday after five days of private bargaining.

Full approval was withheld because of 11 unresolved disputes based on contentions from the main intervenors, Businessmen for the Public Interest, that some specifications of the plant are not adequate to meet a major nuclear accident.

The utilities are Wisconsin Public Service Corp., Green Bay; Wisconsin Power & Light Co., Madison, and the Madison Gas & Electric Co., Madison.

The agreement between the utilities and environmentalists calls for a suspension of hearings on licensing the plant until late this year and dropping of all environmental claims against the plant.

Bruce W. Churchill, attorney for the utilities, said that the agreement provides that production of power at the plant would not be delayed by the licensing dispute.

John Farmakides, licensing board chairman, said that he hoped the remaining disputes could be settled out of court, but if they are not, the agreement called for completion of the hearings without interruption after resuming by Dec. 31.

The Kewaunee plant would be the third nuclear generator in operation in Wisconsin. The other two units are at the Point Beach Plant, five miles south of the Kewaunee installation. The second Point Beach unit has been the subject of a lengthy licensing dispute and has been operating at 20 per cent of capacity.

Working With Youth Major Part of 30 Years With Police Dept.

Lallensack Ends Law Enforcement Career; Becomes Lawmaker

By MICHAEL DONOVAN
Staff Writer

MANITOWOC — "Hey ref! Watch the dancer!"

To followers of Lincoln High School basketball, the voice behind that phrase should be familiar. It is the voice of Francis J. Lallensack.

Lallensack has closely followed the Ships for no less than 30 years. His devotion has not only been to the school. It circumscribes his deep and unflattering devotion, attention and faith in youth.

Working with your has been a major part of Lallensack's 30 years with the Manitowoc Police Dept. He was the department's juvenile officer for 10 of those years.

Today he closed the doors on his law enforcement career. On Jan. 1, Lallensack will open the doors on a new career, that of assemblyman from the Second District.

Halls of Capitol

And it is almost certain that his work and devotion for youth will continue, this time from the halls of the Capitol Building in Madison.

A case in point occurred some 21 years ago when Lallensack was still pounding a beat. A two-year-old girl had drowned off the North Side pier.

"I can still picture that little girl," Lallensack said in a recent interview. "It was tough when I saw that.

"That was a hard thing to take because this child never had a chance to make a momentous decision, like whether she wanted chocolate or vanilla ice cream. It was one of the most difficult jobs I've had."

Strong Concern

"I've always felt a strong concern for little children," Lallensack said, reasoning that they are unable to fend for themselves and are in need of someone to protect them.

But his tenure in law enforcement has not been all sad and hard-to-take moments. There have also been warm and rewarding moments and events that were incentives to keep up the work.

Lallensack tells of the many thank you cards and invitations to weddings and confirmations he has received from those he dealt with as juvenile officer.

"This was my incentive to keep on working with the young people," Lallensack said. "This was very gratifying. It's most rewarding to see some of these people raising families and doing very well now...

Lighter Moments

He also remembers a serious moment of capturing a burglar in a service station when he was a rookie. The heavy atmosphere was there, but so was the lighter moment.

"I remember a former captain who told me, 'Never put two rookies together,'" Lallensack said.

Well it happened this particular night.

"While I stood in front to keep the man covered, my partner went to the rear of the station," Lallensack related. "He was supposed to call me when he was ready, but he didn't."

Lallensack relates that on the way around the rear of the station his partner almost fell in a grease pit and then stepped over a fence and into a bucket of grease.

The thief apparently did not slip away.

Have Desire.

Over his 30 years in law enforcement, Lallensack has developed a philosophy that police work does not only entail issuance of a badge and gun and being put out on a beat.

"First of all, you have to have the desire to be a police officer, not for the authority given you but to do things for the community and the individuals," Lallensack said.

"You must have a willingness to listen to other people's troubles and complaints. You have to have a willingness to work beyond the regular tour of duty.

"One of the busiest summers I ever had was back in 1956 when we had a series of tire slashings, burglaries and numerous drinking parties involving young people."

He remembers cutting noon hours short to capture the "noon hour burglar" who had been breaking into business offices.

Extra Duty

He remembers working extra duty on stakeouts waiting for a burglar to strike.

"I feel law enforcement must be tempered with good common sense," Lallensack said. "You must take into consideration human failings.

"The Bible says "Thou shalt not kill.' But if a person is trying to kill you, you have the right to protect yourself.

"Along with that, I deplore some of the judications that came from the Warren Court. They were lacking in a good common sense approach."

Another major factor in police work is attitude, Lallensack said.

'By the Book'

"I think a policeman's attitude is all wrong when he lays for someone," Lallensack said. "It is wrong when he says, 'Just wait. I'll get you some day.'

"There may be times when you have to go strictly by the book; but most of the time you are dealing with first offenders."

One of the things that Lallensack has been truly grateful for over the past 30 years are the people who have offered information to the police.

"I am really grateful to all those who have helped the police by offering bits of information," Lallensack said. "Many times people don't know how helpful a small bit of information can be.

"Many, many times persons see a crime committed, a person being attacked or beaten and will do nothing to obtain help or attempt to help the victim.

Phone Police

"Why? 'I don't want to get involved; I'm afraid the hoodlum will take it out on me or my family' is sometimes the answer.

"Numerous times a police car is only a few blocks away from the scene. One phone call would bring them promptly. The only way a hoodlum can operate without fear of being caught is for the public to turn their collective faces the other way.

"A hoodlum is a bully. When a person with courage stands up to him, the hoodlum blusters, mouths what he will do, then turns tail and runs, coward at heart.

"A police department is only as good as the people it works for. Police are part of the executive branch of your government, local, state and federal. Your government is only as good as you make it."

Improvements

But along with vast advancements in law enforcement, Lallensack has also seen vast improvements within the Manitowoc Police Dept. the past 30 years.

The department has more than doubled in size; now offers specialized training for the officers; schooling; and many mechanical aids to law enforcement such as the teletype and breathalyzer machine and sophisticated radio equipment.

"The job has been interesting and challenging," Lallensack said. "Now, I'm getting into what I hope will be an equally interesting and challenging job."

Lallensack joined the department in July of 1942 and has served continuously with the department except for a 20-month hitch with the Army in World War II.

He attended numerous police schools sponsored by the FBI, Wisconsin Chiefs of Police Assn. and the Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Assn.

Was Chairman.

Lallensack was department juvenile officer from 1952 to 1962 and attended a juvenile delinquency and control course at the University of Wisconsin in 1956.

He formerly was a member of the Wisconsin Juvenile Officers Assn. and served as chairman of its juvenile training committee in 1961. He was also a panel discussion member for juvenile seminars at the UW for five years.

Lallensack is a past president of the Wisconsin Professional Policemen's Assn. Local 20 and from 1952 to 1959 was a director of the state organization. He has also been chairman of the Manitowoc County Veterans Commission since 1959 and is a member of the VFW Post 659.

He was appointed detective in February of 1952 and promoted to lieutenant of detectives Jan. 1, 1958. He became inspector Sept. 1, 1962.

Lallensack is a 1934 graduate of Lincoln High School. He married the former Gladys Keil in 1941. The couple has four children and reside at 1812 S. 23rd St.

DIVER FINDS SHIP — In 180 feet of Lake Michigan water off Rawley Point, Two Rivers, lays the Rouse Simmons, the "Christmas Tree Ship," which sank with a load of Christmas trees for the Chicago Market, Nov. 23, 1912. It was found by G. Kent Bellrichard, Milwaukee diver, who three years ago located and filmed the wreck of the steamer Vernon, with a loss of 30 lives off Two Rivers. The two ships were found in nearly the same area. With Bellrichard in the finding of the Simmons, a three-master, was John R. Steele, a board chairman of a Waukegan, Ill., bank, also a diver hobbyist. A trunk of one of the Christmas trees taken from the "Christmas Tree Ship" was presented at Milwaukee Saturday to John C. Geilfuss of the Marine National Bank, which was placed on display.

'Christmas Tree Ship' Added to Diver Bellrichard's Finds

TWO RIVERS — G. Kent Bellrichard, a young Milwaukee diver, and Two Rivers have much in common.

Bellrichard, who has been coming to Two Rivers with his boat and diving equipment the past four years, has had two objectives in mind. He had aimed to locate at the lake bottom at Rawley Point (Twin Rivers Point) the wreckage of the steamer Vernon which sank off Two Rivers Oct. 28, 1877, with a loss of some 30 lives, and the "Christmas Tree Ship," the schooner Rouse Simmons, which sank in the same area with a loss of 14 crew members, and others Nov. 23, 1912.

Bellrichard has achieved his ambition. He located the Vernon in some 200 feet of water three years ago, which he later filmed, and several weeks ago he found the Rouse Simmons. With another diver hobbyist, John R. Steele, board chairman of the First National Bank of Wauekegan, Ill., Bellrichard had the Rouse Simmons filmed. Its name is clearly visible in the recent movie they made nearly 180 feet below the lake's surface, proving that a report several years back that the Christmas Tree Ship had washed at Ludington, Mich., was in error.

Best Known

One of the hundreds of vessels that have gone down in Lake Michigan, the Rouse Simmons is one of the best known for several reasons.

The Milwaukee built schooner was one of the last cargo carrying sailing ships that had once been the Great Lakes' principal means of transport.

A painting of the Rouse Simmons by a Milwaukee artist, Bob Heuel, is used on checks of the Marine Exchange Bank, spreading its fame.

Besides, the story of its disappearance with a Christmas Tree cargo has been a favorite of newspaper feature writers in Wisconsin and Illinois for years, revived periodically for the holiday season.

Trees in Nets

That the Rouse Simmons had foundered off this port was substantiated in 1931 after commercial fishermen had problems of repairing the gill nets, having been entangled with Christmas trees, presumably from the Rouse Simmons. That year Capt. Norman Allie of the tug Reindeer found a large purse belonging to the ship master, Capt. Herman Schuenemann, in his gill nets. He showed it to Seymour S. Althen of the Two Rivers Reporter. It contained records of the purchase of trees at Michigan ports on Lake Michigan, payments of wages to the crews, but contained no money. The paper appeared to be well preserved and the writing legible. The purse was turned over to a member of the Scheunemann family.

Beginning in 1887, when Capt. August Schuenemann, of Herman, first tied up his schooner with his cargo of Upper Michigan greenery at the Clarke Street Bridge at Chicago it became a pleasant custom for Chicagoans to buy their yule evergreen at dockside.

August was soon joined by his brother, Herman, and when August went down with a shipload of trees in 1898, Herman carried on the business. By 1912, when the Rouse Simmons disappeared, the habit of buying Christmas trees from the Schuenemanns was 25 years old.

Purchased in 1910

Capt. Herman Schueneman bought the Rouse Simmons in 1910. It was built three years after the Civil War by Allan, McClelland & Co., a Milwaukee Shipyard.

The Rouse Simmons was 127 feet long, with a beam of 27½ feet. A three-master, fore and aft rigged, the Rouse Simmons set sail Nov. 22, 1912, from Thompson, a few miles north of Manistique, Mich. The schooner was a veteran of 44 years, spent mostly in the lumber trade.

The hold was crammed full of Christmas trees and others were lashed to the deck. The trees had been growing in the cutover acreage left behind by the lumberjacks who had nearly denuded northern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan of the virgin pines.

Aboard the Rouse Simmons was a crew of seven, along with perhaps a dozen lumberjacks who were hitching a ride south to spend Christmas in Chicago. Hoping to deliver his trees by Thanksgiving, the 41-year-old skipper ignored threats of heavy weather and set out on what was a usually five-day trip.

Became Too Heavy

As the schooner headed south, she was sighted by a steam tug that was hauling another schooner into Manistique to shelter from the storm. Dennis Gallagher, the tug skipper, called his crew to witness her passing.

"That crazy Dutchman's going out in this," he yelled above the wind. "And him with every canvas up."

Some believed that Schuenemann was trying to reach Baileys Harbor, If so, a dudden shift in the wind and drop in temperature spoiled the plan. A blinding snowstorm began. Even more seriously, the water washing over the evergreen lashed to the deck was freezing in ice.

Contary to reports at the time, Bellrichard's explorations of the ship indicate that she was not overloaded. But the ice had formed in the trees both above and below deck must have weighted down many tons, adding a burden tht proved fatal.

School Still Stands

Louis Dousman II, a handsome fellow, who married Nina Sturgis, said to be the prettiest girl in North America.

Who thought she was the prettiest girl? The Grand Duke, the last Czar of Russia said so, invited her to the Kremlin, and gave her a beautifully stitched pillow.

Collected Furs

The senior Dousman collected martin furs for his bride for 10 years to get perfectly matched pelts. He also gave her a 10 pound dress made of polished coal.

When his son was wed, he and his bride had their joined hands cast in wax and later carved in marble.

For four years, an Italian sculptor worked on a life sized marble statue of their two little daughters.

When Virginia, one of the girls, married, her father bought her five yards of rose point lace from Belgium at $5.00 a yard. Her complete wardrobe and wedding dress are on display.

In 1847, the Dousmans had the first piano in Wisconsin, an oversized Steinway grand.

Prices Recorded

At that time, record show that Jane paid 63 cents for a bar of soap and her husband paid 35 cents for a quart of wine.

Dousman bought seven rifles for $14 and 13 mink pelts for $4. A couple of red fox pelts were worth $2.50, 11 muskrat, $1.25; a prime bear skin $5; and four prime wolf $2.

His 115 foot long Maid of Iowa steamboat drew 3 feet of water and cost $20,000 in 1842.

Villa Louis Priceless Gem of State's Antiques

By GENE DIVINE
Sentinel Staff Writer

Prairie du Chien, Wis. — Villa Louis is a cool jewel in the State Historical Society of Wisconsin collection of six historic sites.

Under 30 or over, you'll like the way it swings.

In 1831, Hercules Dousman bought the 4,500 acre island on which it stands. In 1843 he sent to St. Louis, Mo., for 85,000 red bricks to build a Georgian mansion.

The mansion cost $4,495. The bricks cost $425 and $4.25 to haul them. Dousman was 44 and his bride, Jane Fisher, was 40 when they married and moved in.

When they returned from their honeymoon, he had 500 lighted candles burning on the glassed-in-porch.

Widow of Trader

Jane Fisher was the young widow of King Joseph Rolette, the foremost fur trader of the territory prior to Dousman's arrival. Looking at the candles she named the house "LeChateau Brilliante."

Her daughter-in-law later named it Villa Louis.

In 1844, the house boasted air conditioning and running water. The cool air came from the ice house, where 20 tons of ice from the Mississippi River kept food refrigerated.

The ice house was a building within a building, with 4 inches of space between the walls. Ducts led to the house fireplaces for summer cooling.

The house was built on an ancient Indian mound so high its foundations didn't get wet even during the record high flood of 1965.

In his office, Dousman had a copying machine that still works.

With ideas like those, it's little wonder that Dousman was the state's first millionaire.

Background Needed

To really enjoy a tour of Villa Louis any time between 9 a.m. and 5 a.m. daily you need background information.

Born in Mackinac, Mich., Dousman was the grandson of a Dutch baron who fled his homeland as a political refugee. In the Villa library is a copy of the grandfather's 1567 edition of "Table Talk," by Martin Luther.

After education and work in New York, Dousman came to Prairie du Chien to work with Rolette, a fur trader for John Jacob Astor. Business boomed for Astor, and Dousman got rich.

He became so rich he owned five river steamboats and three ocean vessels plus big chunks of railroads, including the Milwaukee and Mississippi River Line.

War Avoided

The Indians liked him for his honesty and fairness and understanding of them. War was avoided several times at his word.

Prairie du Chien is named after an Indian chief. It was a major trading crossroads because of the confluence of the Wisconsin and Mississippi Rivers.

Traders arrived here 65 years after the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock. French, British and American flags flew over forts on the Dousman island. The defenses were finally moved to higher ground where today the Old Fort Crawford and Museum of Medical Progress stand.

The scenery is spectacular with Wyalusing State Park on top of the Wisconsin side bluff and Pikes Peak State Park on the Iowa side.

Prairie du Chien is quaint as a river town, and the oldest city in the state.

School Still Stands

The Chamber of Commerce office is an older riverboat captain's house. The first stone house in the state and the first stone school still stand. The oldest cemetery in the state and the only national military cemetery are here.

The medical museum owned by the state's doctors shows 300 years of medical progress as well as the surgeons' quarters and office in the fort.

This year the Stovall Hall of Health boasts an ecology display in addition to transparent twins that explain how the body works.

Some of the more interesting sights at Villa Louis include:

TRAVEL TIPS

Lincoln Birthplace Visited

By CHARLES D. COLLINS
Sentinel Travel Editor

HODGENVILLE, KY. – The Odyssey of Abraham Lincoln began near this tiny town in the rolling hills of the Blue Grass State. It ended 56 years later in Springfield, Ill. In between was a lifetime of hard work, frustration and heartbreak.

Today, the route from Kentucky through Indiana to the Great Emancipator's tomb in Springfield, Ill., is called the Lincoln Heritage Trail. It traces the childhood and maturing years of a lean, lanky man who split rails and studied by candlelight before becoming the 16th president of the United States.

And because of its historic significance and an abundance of natural beauty along the way, the trip is rapidly becoming one of the most popular tourist trails in the Midwest.

The Lincoln Heritage Trail begins in the east, and after sampling Kentucky hospitality for a day or two, a natural visitor reaction is why did the Lincolns leave?

Right now, the blooms of early spring paint a pleasing picture. Soft greens of budding trees make a lofty mantle for the pinks, purples and whites of dogwood, red bud and flowering peach or crab. Sweet smelling magnolias vie with the beauty of azaleas and tulips. It's hard to believe that it's only a day's drive from Milwaukee.

THE BEGINNING of the Lincoln story goes back to 1808 when a carpenter named Thomas Lincoln decided to try his hand at farming. For $200, he bought some land in north central Kentucky and built a log cabin for his wife and infant daughter. A year later a son was born. They named him Abraham.

Today, the log cabin is enshrined in a granite and marble building. Leading to the top of the knoll are 56 steps, one for each year of Lincoln's life. A single ancient boundary oak there was a landmark at the time of his birth.

Also near the national monument is the Sinking Spring, for which the Lincoln farm was named. It still bubbles with cool water, but there's a posted notice which is a sign of the times. Like so much of our water, it's polluted.

When Abe was 2 years old, the family left the birthplace cabin because of a defective land title. In fact, this continuing problem was the real reason for the family's trek west. In all, Tom Lincoln thought he owned three parcels of land in Kentucky, but the state's "metes and bounds" surveys often left established ownership in doubt. It prompted the family move to Indiana, a part of the Northwest Territory where land titles were more secure.

Their second Kentucky home was about 10 miles away at Knob Creek. The family stayed for five years, but only a replica cabin remains. The original was burned for firewood sometime after 1870. A few miles to the east is another interesting replica, the homestead of Capt. Abraham Lincoln, Abe's grandfather. Also there is the Francis Berry House, the log home where Nancy Hanks, Abe's mother, lived when she was courted by carpenter Lincoln.

TRAVELERS FOLLOWING the Lincoln Heritage Trail will miss much unless they branch out from the route liberally identified with trail markers. Louisville, bordered by the Ohio River and largest city in the state, is worth a full day of your vacation. Col. George Rogers Clark floated down the river in 1778 and with 13 families built a settlement on Corn Island. A year later they moved to what is now Louisville.

Three hour cruises on an old fashioned sternwheeler called The Belle of Louisville cast off at 2 p.m. from docks at 4th St. and River Rd. from May 30 through Labor Day. Weekday fares are $1.50, $2 for weekends

Venerable Churchill Downs, site of the Kentucky Derby since 1875, attracts about 400,000 visitors each year. Free summer tours of the grounds and gardens are available from June 1. The track has stables for 1,000 horses and offers mint juleps at $1.75.

Bardstown is another place to be included on the Kentucky segment of the Lincoln Heritage Trail. It's the state's second oldest community and county seat for Nelson County, self-proclaimed "Bourbon Capital of the World."

THERE ARE 14 DISTILLERIES, one for every 2,000 people in the area. Many welcome visitors, but no samples are given. In fact, Bardstown is dry, just like 100 of Kentucky's 120 counties. Strangely, Christian County is wet; Bourbon County, dry.

Bardstown's most famous landmark is a beautiful mansion on Federal Hill. It's called "My Old Kentucky Home" and was a momentary residence of Stephen Foster. The Abbey of Gethsemani, oldest home of Trappist monks in the United States, is nestled in the hills outside town. Gethsemani cheese is so good it should be made in Wisconsin.

Harrodsburg is another Kentucky community to be included in trip planning. A replica of Ft. Harrod is part of a state park on Highways 68 and 127. Its stockade was a refuge for pioneers pouring west through Cumberland Gap in the late 1700s. Daniel Boone helped survey the site.

Just inside the park is the Lincoln Marriage Temple. An early 19th century church shelters the cabin where Tom Lincoln and Nancy Hanks were married.

No trip to Kentucky could be complete without a visit to Lexington, capital of the Blue Grass horse country. It's a place of beauty and deserves a separate column.

City Saves Its Paper

City of Manitowoc employes will cooperate and participate in a paper conservation and recycling program under provisions of a resolution adopted unanimously by the Common Council Monday night.

Authored by Ald. Donald Gollata, the resolution asks all city department heads to cut down the use of paper in their respective departments and to aid in efforts to recycle waste paper.

Gollata said that waste paper from city departments presently was burned and added to the city's air pollution.

Under the new plan waste paper will be saved and contributed to the monthly citywide paper pickup program. The paper can be stored in the City Hall basement by janitors until the monthly pickups.

Paper from a large copy machine at City Hall was found to be "excellent" for recycling, Gollata said.

The mayor will designate a city employe to supervise the paper recycling program.

Wade House, Carriage Museum Different

By GENE DIVINE
Sentinel Staff Writer

Greenbush, Wis. – The Old Wade House and Carriage Museum site of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin is different.

First, there is the Old Wade House.

Sylvanus Wade knew what he was doing. He was the son of an innkeeper and he was looking for a site for a stage coach inn, not a hotel, when he came here in 1844.

He knew what he wanted because he was a third generation innkeeper. His father operated the original Wade House, now 300 years old, in Greenbush, Mass.

The Wesley Jung Carriage Museum tells of life before the automobile. It contains the carriages of the wealthy, the wagons of the working man and the wagons of commerce.

In the outstanding collection are some one of a kind vehicles including the only three horse, self-unloading coal wagon still in existence.

These are not replicas. they are originals.

Carriage and stage coach rides are offered.

The site is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. The price to visit it is $1.80 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Old Wade House and the carriage museum are located in a beautiful setting at the north end of Kettle Moraine State Park.

The area was hilly and dense forest in 1844, but a new all-weather plank road from the port of Sheboygan to Fond du Lac was being built. This was the half way point, a one day journey.

Had 9 Children

Wade already had his cook and housekeeper, his Pennsylvania Dutch wife, Betsy Oakley, and his helpers, nine children.

He knew nine coaches would leave Sheboygan daily bringing 100 guests. They'd need water for the horses. Here was the Mullett River. so it didn't have to be pumped.

To get started he built a log cabin for the family and a blacksmith shop to care for the stage horses. To build an inn, he needed lumber. So he built a saw mill on the river.

Wade hired a young carpenter, Charles Robinson, to help him. Robinson later married Wade's oldest daughter and built her the sturdy and beautiful Butternut house.

Flowers Framed

Her bridal flowers and veil are framed and hung on the wall of the home in the custom of the day. Robinson had talent as is apparent in both buildings and in the United Methodist Church he constructed across Center St. from his home.

The guides give the tour, but the adult will carefully note all of the little innkeeping touches.

Folding doors enlarge or reduce dining space.

The innkeeper's room is handy. Across from the men's tap room is a ladies' parlor. Pewter pitchers kept the ale warm. A homemade mangle for sheets utilized the weight of rocks.

Fathers will see the cigar box violin Wade made for the children. Women will note the original spatterware ironstone dinnerware made especially for the inn.

The tiny rooms off the third floor ballroom were for stage drivers.

The late Mrs. Ruth DeYoung Kohler did the excellent restoration. One of her innovations provided 19 manikins in original garments showing how the rooms were used.

Her original five acre restoration has grown to a 274 acre park. She started with a ruin and insisted that all replacement parts to restore it to the original be hand made, including the nails.

The beds have rope springs and corn husk mattresses and include 150 year old trundle beds in some rooms.

The same attention to authenticity was paid to the carriage collection by Jung, who as a young lad learned the carriage making trade in his father's carriage shop in Sheboygan.

Most of the carriages and wagons were used in the Sheboygan area.

Ad on Wagon

One is painted with the advertisement "Velvet, the smoothest tobacco for smoking."

Geo. W. F. Herzog's wholesale meat wagon and matching sleigh are there complete with calf's head decals.

The road water sprinkler to settle the dust is from Oconomowoc. From Allenton comes the B. Schmalz Meat Market wagon.

There are lumber wagons, a children's hearse, and children's wagons and sleighs.

Sheboygan advertising executive Frank Jacobson summed up the collection, telling Jung:

"This restoration and preservation is a better tribute to the highly skilled wainwright than history and literature."

LOOKING, FEELING WELL — Since looking well is important to feeling well, Holy Family Hospital, Manitowoc, has a newly remodeled beauty shop available for patient use. The hospital does not staff the shop with beauty operators, but patients are permitted to have their personal hairdressers come to the hospital by appointment and use the facilities provided. Mrs. Ann Glaeser, who is styling a patient's hair, donates her beautician's services a half day a week in the beauty shop. "With physicians permitting early ambulation for most patients, many will be able to avail themselves of the beauty service which may prove to be 'just what the doctor ordered to restore a general feeling of well being," hospital officials said.

Stonefield Village as seen from the bluffs that tower over the Mississippi River valley

WISCONSIN'S YESTERDAYS TODAY—II.

75 Year Old Town Going Up Fast

By GENE DIVINE
Sentinel Staff Writer

Cassville, Wis. – Stonefield Village is the fastest growing town between here and Prairie du Chien. It's Our Town, Wis.

It's a tiny village snuggled near a railroad, a mighty river, and a crossroads serving the local farm community. It's new, as of 75 years ago. You step back into time three generations.

Stonefield is alive from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. Admission is $1.50 for adults and 30 cents for children.

Stonefield is the largest project of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin site program.

Opened in 1960

Stonefield is "our town" because it came from Wisconsin Reconstruction of the village was started in 1956 and it opened in 1960. The first building was the Muddy-Hollow School.

The State Bank of Lime Ridge supplied the interior needs for the Stonefield bank. The Cashton Record donated the Monona leverless press to the Stonefield Gazette. It was brand new in 1890.

From Cedarburg came plans for the last remaining covered bridge in Wisconsin as filed with the Library of Congress during the WPA American Buildings Survey.

Scaled down to fit Dewey Creek at the north edge of Stonefield, horse drawn busses carry visitors through it.

Genesee Depot provided the post office interior, counter cell boxes and windows.

Sent Polisher

The Wendt Jewelry Store at Horicon sent the cases, counters, cash register, bugger, grinder and polisher in the Stonefield Jewelry Store.

From the Fitchburg General Store came authentic, new clothing of all types and shoes never out of the box for the Stonefield General Store.

Don's Meat Market at Watertown provided the butcher shop furnishings, where the lard buckets are collectors' items and where you can buy Sheboygan sausage or Wisconsin cheese.

From Mulvaney's saloon in Mequon came some decorative porch railings and other collectors' items.

From Reedsville came the entire contents of Wentzlaff's cigar making shop.

Shops Operating

Many of the shops are operating and about half sell such items as books, ice cream, or licorice candy.

George Bantas, Jr., of the Banta Publishing Co. in Menasha, not only built the red brick Stonefield Gazette, but the church which is patterned after a Racine County Presbyterian church.

During the summer a girl plays hymns on the pump organ and tourists drop into pews to sing along and call out their old favorites.

Banta also provided the new railroad depot near the Wisconsin Cheesemakers Assn. corner cheese factory. Even the headstones in the cemetery are original, having been replaced by newer models in other cemeteries.

The Stonefield reception area is the huge stone-walled barn Wisconsin's first governor, Nelson Dewey, built for the imported horses on his 2,000 acre Stonefield plantation.

Nearby is a new agricultural museum featuring 12,000 pieces of farm equipment used commonly in the 1800s. The museum is built on the foundation of Dewey's 100 cow barn.

Early Innovator

Dewey was an early agricultural innovator. He had 10 acres of grapes on the slopes overlooking the Mississippi River.

Across the road is the 700 acre Nelson Dewey State Park. The original home and plantation were built by Dewey to please his wife, at a cost of $100,000.

The house boasted central steam heat and the farm was the wonder of the day and the jewel of southwestern Wisconsin.

Mrs. Dewey didn't like Cassville and left Dewey for the bright lights of Madison and Washington, D. C.

Two term governor of Wisconsin at age 35, Dewey had a tragic life. His political fortune declined as did those of the Democrats during the Civil War.

On Jan. 2, 1873, his home burned and all that was saved was the furniture, doors and some moldings along with the walls. It was rebuilt.

Dewey lost several children to cholera before his wife left him and the depression of 1873 wiped out his vast holdings of property in Illinois, Iowa, Arkansas, Texas and New York.

He died, a poor country lawyer alone in a room in the Denniston House, which he'd also once owned in Cassville.

The Denniston House, built 131 years ago, has a supreme court chamber on the third floor. The assumption was that Cassville would be the capitol of the Wisconsin territory.

Now a historical site, the Denniston House is a fun place to stop going to and from Stonefield. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Oelke are the innkeepers and delightful to visit on the huge veranda overlooking the Mississippi River.

Manitowoc City Planner Mecha Retires

Career Spans 33 Years

By EDMUND ARNDORFER
Herald - Times - Reporter
Staff Writer

MANITOWOC — Richard B. Mecha has watched the planning process grow from a haphazard, intermittent activity into an integral part of Manitowoc city government operations.

Mecha, who is retiring as city planner Friday after 33 years of public service, said he is proud of the achievements made by Manitowoc in the planning field. The city has had a Plan Commission since 1930 and a separate department devoted to planning since 1946.

Mecha has been identified with commnuity planning and development in one capacity or another for his entire career.

From 1934 until 1949 Mecha was employed by the Public Works Dept. He spent the next seven years with the Fenner-Brey Engineering Corp. before joining the City Planning Dept. as a planning technician in July of 1956. He was promoted to the position of city planner in 1967.

Self-Taught Man

A self-taught man, Mecha put his surveying and engineering ability to good use in various community projects in the Manitowoc and Two Rivers area.

While an employe of the Public Works Dept. in the 1930s, he worked up specifications for the first modern police-fire alarm and communications system in the city. He also handled paper work and acted in a supervisory capacity for several projects including construction of the sewage treatment plant, remodeling of City Hall and erection of the Safety Building.

Mecha originally was hired to set up a cost system in the Public Works Dept. but he "started studying planning and gradually got away from accounting altogether."

Resident Engineer

During his seven year stint with the Fenner-Brey firm, he was resident engineer and inspector for a $375,000 double leaf bascule bridge in the City of Two Rivers. Mecha also was involved in development of an oil tank farm and widening of Washington Street in that community.

As a Planning Dept. employe, Mecha helped develop a master plan for the City of Manitowoc in the late 1950s and teamed with Milwaukee planning consultant Elmer Krieger to complete a comprehensive zoning ordinance adopted by the Common Council in January of 1969. More recently he drafted a floodplain zoning ordinance for Manitowoc and consistently has been a strong supporter of north side lakefront development. Two Milwaukee consulting firms are now at work on a comprehensive lakefront plan.

The department recently completed a city recreation and open space plan under the direction of Associate Planner Thomas Greenwood. It presently is working on a sign control ordinance for the city.

Six Mayors

During his long public service career, Mecha served under six different mayors and was closely associated with the other four men who held the planner's post.

Previous city planners were Arthur Stellhorn from 1946 to 1948, Huge Faville from 1952 to 1955, Rod Dittmar from 1955 to 1959 and Brian Mattson from 1960 to 1964.

A city planning survey in 1928 was credited by Mecha with setting the pattern for the first planning and zoning efforts in Manitowoc.

Leonard Sewall Smith, a University of Wisconsin professor, conducted the survey whose proposals are still timely today.

Drew Plans

Smith recommended acquisition of the former county fairgrounds property on the city's north side for use as a park and recreation center. The property was purchased by the city several years ago and is being developed for recreational purposes.

Mecha and his staff drew up a redevelopment plan for conversion of the fairgrounds into Citizens Park and recommended that the City Recreation Dept. office be moved there from City Hall.

Smith also foresaw the expansion of Lincoln Park along both sides of the Little Manitowoc River to Lake Michigan. This proposal ties in with the present north side lakefront development plans.

Another Smith recommendation called for planning activities to be well publicized and explained to the public.

Total Picture

Mecha long has been a strong advocate of good public relations in the planning field as well as other city functions.

"All public employes should be concerned with the total city picture and they should use any avenue available to communicate with the public and assist them in understanding the problems of community building," he declared.

"The public will respond to needs if they understand them. All public employes can do their share in helping the electorate to become more responsible if we help them to be more sensitive to what our jobs are supposed to do. If a good climate is achieved among the public, our jobs will be made easier and our cities will be better places in which to live."

Mecha and his wife, the former Helen Kosbab, of Escanaba, Mich., reside at 304 E. Park View Ln.

A well known golfer and bowler, Mecha plans to continue these activities during his retirement and he also expects to do some surveying on a free lance basis.

Mecha has accumulated about two dozen trophies as a golfer and last year at Wisconsin Rapids he won the state Elks senior golf championship.

Miss Musial Tells Working Seeing-Eye Dog

Clara Musial with Manna

MANITOWOC — Miss Clara Musial, who has been blind since early childhood, and who now has her third Seeing Eye dog, spoke to members of the Crystal Springs 4-H club at the March meeting at Shoto Town Hall. Accompanying her was her newest dog, Manna, a two-year-old German shepherd. Her first dog, also was a German Shepherd, and she had it as a companion for 12 years. Her second dog, a Siberian husky, worked 14 years before he was retired to the Seeing-Eye headquarters at Morristown, N.J.

According to Miss Musial, only about five per cent of blind people can work with a seeing-eye dog. To obtain a dog, she said, it is necessary to have a good sense of direction and balance, a physican, and references. Miss Musial waited one year for her first dog, she said.

Like her other dogs, Manna goes to work with her daily to Mirro Aluminum Co., where Miss Musial works in the shipping department.

In describing the Seeing-Eye organization, she said it was founded in 1929, and is the oldest and largest guide dog organization, and is run by donations. She added those applying for dogs spend approximately one month at the school getting acquainted with their dogs. Part of the dog's training is done by 4-H boys and girls in the Morristown area, she said. From the age of three months to one year, the dog lives a normal life in the 4-H'ers home, and then the dog is returned to school for advanced training.

She demonstrated commands which the dog obeys, come, sit, down, rest, fetch, right, left, and forward. Pfui and no-no are words used in correction.

A question and answer period followed her talk.

A foods meeting is scheduled from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Tuesday, March 20, at the Allan Haws home.

Firm Sold To Avon

Sept. 6, 1973

The David Douglas Co., founded in Manitowoc 20 years ago by David Douglas of Indian Wells, Calif., has been sold to Avon Products Inc.

Fred G. Fusee, vice chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Avon, announced Wednesday that the firm had acquired David Douglas Co., located at Sheboygan, so it can enter the direct - to - the - home plastic housewares market in Canada selling through the party plan.

All of the stock of David Douglas Co. Inc., which owns and distributes a line of plastic houseware products in the United States, was acquired in the transaction.

In related transactions, Avon Products Ltd., has acquired the assets of Geni International Ltd., of Sheboygan and Geni International Home Parties Ltd., of Toronto, Canada, which since 1969 has been selling in Canada the David Douglas line of plastic houseware products direct to the home.

Fusee noted that only cash was involved in the acquisition and that it would amount to about $5 million.

Douglas began his business at Manitowoc in 1953 and operated until he was able to obtain larger quarters for manufacturing at Plymouth several years later. He maintained the corporation office at Manitowoc until four years ago

The company moved its manufacturing operations to Sheboygan in 1971 after a $1.5 million fire razed its Plymouth plant.

Douglas disposed of his Manitowoc residence a number of years ago and established residence at Indian Wells.

TO BE RAZED — A large red building at North Fifth and York streets near the north side Manitowoc lakefront is being dismantled because of its dilapidated condition. A three story structure of sturdy wood frame construction, it formerly housed a supply firm and was an important part of a bygone business era. The building is owned by Hamann Construction Co. A firm spokesman said it had no immediate plans for the property. (Photo by staff photographer)

Marker For Sundae Gets 'Seed'

A "seed" to insure commemoration of Two Rivers as the birthplace of the ice cream sundae was planted Tuesday morning by Marine Savings and Loan Assn.

Charles Leonard, manager of business development of Marine Savings, presented Two Rivers City Manager Hilary Rath with a check for $100 which will be used to purchase a plaque for the marker noting the city as the birthplace of the popular dessert and between-meals snack.

Leonard told Rath that Marine Savings feels the invention of the ice cream sundae is too important an event in history to allow it to go ignored.

Earlier this month, the City Council endorsed the installation of an historical marker commemorating the event in Central Park. Projected cost of the marker is $350 and the Manitowoc-Two Rivers Chamber of Commerce, in a letter to the council, said it hoped to raise that amount with assistance of local service clubs and historical societies.

The ice cream sundae was discovered by Edward C. Berners in 1881. Berners' original ice cream parlor still stands in the form of an apartment house next to Malley Printing on 15th Street but it is scheduled for demolition in the near future.

Rouse Simmons

Diver Shows Movies Of Famed Schooner

Underwater movies, partly in color, of the most famous of early schooners, the Rouse Simmons, which foundered off Rawley Point northeast of Two Rivers, were shown and narrated at the regular luncheon meeting of the Two Rivers Rotary Club at the Two Rivers Elks Club Monday noon.

The well known deep sea diver, who has located a number of sunken vessels on the Great Lakes, was Kent Bellrichard, a Milwaukee industrial firm engineer whose hobby is locating shipwrecks in deep water

The movies, which he took with his underwater camera were of the three-masted schooner, Rouse Simmons, known for years as the "Christmas Tree Ship," which foundered in a gale with a huge cargo of Christmas Trees for the Chicago Market Nov. 24, 1912. All 12 crewmen perished.

Bellrichard is known at Two Rivers for his frequent visit to the Rawley point, one of the most dangerous areas on the Great Lakes in the early shipping days. Some two years ago the Milwaukee diver located the Rouse Simmons in 194 feet of water. Two years earlier Bellrichard discovered a palatial passenger-packet boat, the Vernon, near the same area, with a loss of some 40 lives. A number of bodies, unidentified, are interred under a memorial shaft in Pioneers' Rest Cemetery at Two Rivers. The Vernon sank, also in a storm, Oct. 27, 1887, in 204 feet of water.

Bellrichard, who was accompanied at the meeting by his diving partner, Tim Cogswell of Two Rivers, who also made numerous dives to the wreckage of the Vernon and Simmons. He told the Rotarians that it is not possible to remain more than eight minutes at a time at the scene of the wreckage. He added that cold water poses a real problem for divers who go down to greater depths of Lake Michigan. It requires some 15 minutes to reach the wreckages of the two vessels.

The Milwaukeean explained that he had taken numerous artifacts off these boats, such as dishes from the vernon and parts of the engine, and many christmas trees from the Simmons, a number of which were made into souvenirs. The purse of Capt. Herman Schueneman was found in the nets of a fishing firm headed by the late Capt. Norman Allie, operating the tug, Reindeer. Containing receipts of purchases of Christmas trees in upper Michigan, the purse was given to the captain's daughter.

ANCHOR INSPECTION — Viewing the anchor of the three-masted schooner Rouse Simmons, the "Christmas Tree Ship", taken off the vessel which sunk off Rawley Point, north of Two Rivers with all 20 hands aboard, Nov. 23, 1912, are diver companions of Kent Bellrichard of Milwaukee, who located the ship in October of 1971. The anchor was brought into Two Rivers in darkness Wednesday. The anchor, weighing a ton, with a 16 foot cross-bar was inspected Thursday by from left, Bob Bruns, Jim Bodoh, Ron Kiefer and Tim Cogswell. (Photo by staff photographer)

Anchor Is Lifted From Lake

Friday, Nov. 23, will mark the 62nd year that the three-masted schooner — the Rouse Simmons — long known as the "Christmas Tree Ship," was enroute to Chicago with a capacity cargo of Christmas trees for Chicago area homes.

This was a trip the schooner had made for many years.

But that day a northeasterly gale whipped Lake Michigan as the Simmons neared Rawley Point six miles north of Two Rivers with the cargo accumulated at Upper Michigan lake ports. That was the last of the "Christmas Tree Ship." It sank with all hands — a crew of 12 and eight woodsmen. Not a single body was recovered.

However, in late October, 1971, a Milwaukee deep water scuba diver, Kent Bellrichard, came upon the Simmons while he was probing area shipwrecks. The Milwaukee engineering firm employe two years earlier located the foundered steamer Vernon, which sank Oct. 28, 1887, off Rawley Point.

A stark reminder of the Great Lakes tragedy, the sinking of the "Christmas Tree Ship" and all aboard, came to light Wednesday. It was the one-ton anchor, perfectly preserved. Bellrichard and his companions brought the "prize lift" to the surface of the lake at 5:30 p.m.

The men had secured it to a 250-gallon steel drum at 11 a.m. in 43-degree weather. The drum was submerged about 200 feet. When brought ashore, the anchor, with a 16-foot cross bar, 10 feet long and a four-foot fluke, was placed temporarily on the inner harbor docks of the U.S. Coast Guard Station at Two Rivers.

The anchor was dragged into port by the 26-foot diving equipped Lake Diver skippered by John Steele, president of the Waukegan, Ill., National Bank and a long-time diving mate of Bellrichard. The two have been on virtually all of the Great Lakes in quest of shipwrecks.

Tim Cogswell of Two Rivers, student at University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire, who had dived to the Vernon and Simmons with Bellrichard, and another student diver, Ron Kiefer, drove from Eau Claire, to assist in lifting the anchor after midnight Tuesday.

Keith Retzlaff, of the Town of Two Rivers, had also participated in earlier diving work prior to the last lift which brought up the anchor of the "Christmas Tree Ship."

Another diver, an Indianapolis, Ind., brokerage firm head, William Cohrs, flew his plane to the Manitowoc County Airport earlier in the day to aid in lifting the anchor. Two new residents of Two Rivers, divers for many years in salt water and operators of a salvage enterprise — Hydro Dynamic Engineering Inc.— were also at the Simmons site to help secure the anchor. They are Capt. James Bodoh and Bob Bruns.

Steele's boat headed for Two Rivers at slow speed to assure that the anchor would not slip away from the floating drum. It required about a half-hour, with the use of a wrecker of Peterson's Service Station, Two Rivers, to lift the anchor to the dock.

Bellrichard said Thursday he has made no decision as to what he will do with the anchor.

The Rouse Simmons was built in 1868 and owned by the late Capt. Herman Scheuneman of Chicago, who went down with his crew and woodsmen.

Over a long period of years gill-net fishermen at Two Rivers found their nets snarled with Christmas trees. In 1931, the late Capt. Norman Allie, his father, John V., also deceased, and a brother, Albert, the lone survivor of the fishing firm, found Capt. Scheuneman's wallet entangled in their nets. The wallet contained receipts for tree purchases and records of payments he had made to the crew. The wallet was given to the captain's daughter at Chicago.

4-Pin Costs Harry Perfecto

Kaufmann, Gollata Hit Nationals

Harry Kaufmann and Eileen Gollata ripped off national honor bowling counts Tuesday in area pin action, Kaufmann just missing a perfect game in the process.

The matured Manitowoc bowler tied home with his 15th national", authoring a 714, while Mrs. Gollata totaled a 605.

A stubborn four pin in the 10th frame of the final game cost Kaufmann a perfecto. "And it was one of my better hits in the game . . . a lot better than some of the others," he jested in commenting on the series. "I don't know how many nationals I have," he added of the series which opened with games of 244 and 191 in the Meadow Lanes All Star League.

Mrs. Gollata on the other hand knows exactly how many nationals she now had . . . one.

She rolled lines of 190, 207 and 208 in authoring a 605 in the Meadow Belles League.

Jean Burkart Reaches Pinnacle of Success

Burkart Rolls 703 Series

GREEN BAY — St. Nazianz Jean Burkart bowled one of the highest bowling series in the state Saturday when she toppled a 703 three game series for a Green Bay television station.

She bowled games of 247, 232 and 224 in rolling the series.

pionship Bowling which alone would be quite a feat.

But she won it by rolling a 703 series—scratch.

That is women's equivalent of the men's 800, the highest three game series by a woman in sanctioned tournament competition this year in the state. The fact that she did it on television which naturally added pressure makes the feat even greater.

The match, which was with Eldora Allhiser of Shawano, will be aired at 2:30 p.m. Saturday on WBAY-TV.

"I didn't notice the pressure really. I was relaxed because I had just finished bowling against Rosie (Fenlon) which was hard because we bowl together and it's hard to want to beat a friend."

Jean beat Mrs. Fenlon 574-495 pulling away from a 358-349 margin after two games in the semi-final match.

In the final match she never realized she had the 700 until after she had finished the final frame. "I knew I had a good series going but I never looked at the scoresheet or audience scoreboard. When I got done throwing the last ball in the tenth frame somebody added it up and told me I got a 700."

She notched a strike and a pair of spares to open her first game then strung six strikes in a row, covered a split in the tenth and added a nine count for a 247. By now she already had the match all but bagged because Allhiser had rolled a 125.

In the second game she failed to string any strikes together through the first six frames getting only one but failed to miss a spare. She ran five straight to close it out and finished with a 232.

Jean Burkart

Her total now stood at 479 and the spectators were wondering if she would be able to keep up the fantastic pace,

It didn't look good the first frame of the final game. She threw a bad ball getting only six pins then missed the spare. It looked like the party was over.

"At that point, Rosie, who was in the crowd, hollered from the back 'now the tension is gone, now go out and bowl'. Maybe if I hadn't blown that frame I would have tensed up more."

Jean heeded her friend's advice and came back with a four bagger. She was back on the track.

Temporarily.

She left a split in the sixth and failed to convert. By now she had 125 and a long way to go to hit the 221 she needed. Spares in the seventh and eighth kept the target in sight but distantly.

She would need three strikes and a seven count in that order in the last two frames.

She strung four, finishing with a 224.

"I was just numb, I was on cloud nine and I don't think I've come off it yet. It was emotion to no end. My 16 year old daughter who had been watching the match sat on the bench crying and of course that was all it took for me to start."

Mrs. Burkart, who is 47, started league bowling when she was 17 after learning the game from her father at age 11. She was off the circuit a couple of times.

She got her first national honor count in 1963 and won her first Northeastern Wisconsin title in 1970.

She presetly averages 181, her best ever, bowling with East Wisconsin Volunteers, with Pootsie and Ollie's Bar, and for Meadow Lanes in various leagues.

"After my father, who was a very good bowler, taught me some of the basics he told me 'now you're going to throw the ball the right way.' When he showed me I told him I couldn't do it that way."

"He told me he'd never give me money to go bowling again unless I did."

She listened, and it's been paying off ever since.

Jim Kaufman Gets National the Hard Way

Jim Kaufman got the first sanctioned 700 of his career in the Meadow Lanes All Star League Tuesday night but not without some anxious moments.

He finished with a 711 joining father Harry and mother Dottie in the national honor category.

After crashing a 267 game in which he had nine strikes and a 244 in which he had eight Kaufman opened three of the first four frames of his final game.

"I still figured I had a slim chance at it," he later noted. He ran five strikes in a row only to hit another snag in the tenth.

Kaufman needed a spare but threw his worst opening ball of the evening leaving a 1-2-4-8; he came in light again on the conversion but carried the eight pin off the board.

Dottie Kaufman Hits 600

Dec. 20, '73

The Kaufmann family added one more national honor bowling count to its total as Dottie Kaufmann rolled a woman's national honor series of 600 even Wednesday in the Ladies Classic League. She had games of 202, 204 and 194.

Addition Is Dedicated

MANITOWOC — Dedication of the latest addition to St. Mary Home for the Aged, 2005 Division St., Sunday afternoon was a ceremony marked by its simplicity combined with an air of joyousness.

The latest addition to the "home with a heart" was undertaken to provide better facilities and safety for the care of the aged which is the responsibility of the Felician Sisters, operators of the institution.

International representatives of the order from Rome, from the Chicago provincial motherhouse and those who serve in various capacity in institutions, schools and homes for the aged in Wisconsin with lay persons, the building contractors and benefactors were invited to the dedication.

Bless Each Floor

The Most Rev. Bishop Aloysius Wycislo of the Green Bay Diocese with the Rev. James VandenHogen vice chancellor and secretary, began the dedicatory service with blessing each floor of the latest three-story addition. Bishop Wycislo was the principal celebrant of the concelebrated Mass following the blessing. Concelebrants were the Rev. Msgr. Chester A. Ropella, vice general and chancellor of the diocese; the Rev. James R. DeWitt, pastor of St. Andrew, Manitowoc, who is the episcopal vicar; the Rev. Thaddeus J. Koszarek, pastor of St. Mary, Manitowoc, and the Rev. Anselm Romb, O.F.M. Conv., Chicago, who yas homolist.

A choir from the Chicago motherhouse sang the liturgy.

A feature of the Mass was the offerings. Ed Solner of Middleton, the architect, presented the construction blueprints; Paul Neuser, the home's engineer, offered the official state license; two residents of the home, Anna Mazanec and Minnie Meidl, bore symbols representing the aged; Sister Claude, home administrator, carried a red rose as an expression of love and dedication. Joining them were Sister Claude's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Szyperski of Chicago and Mother Mary Innocenta, Chicago, provincial head, who presented the water and wine and the chalice.

Leading the procession for the blessing for the home were Gerald Powalisz as crossbearer and Sylvester Bertsche and George Bouril, acolytes.

Dinner, Program

Following the religious rite the guests were escorted to the home's dining room for dinner and program.

Bishop Wycislo delivered the invocation. Extending the city's welcome was Mayor John Krey, who also cited the city's outstanding program for the aging, which he said now ranks as the best in Wisconsin. Others introduced by John Falco of Beloit, administrator of a 420 bed institution for the aged, who acted as master of ceremonies were individuals responsible for the planning, construction and furnishing the newest addition. These were Conrad Hamann, Paul Braunel, Ed Gorychka, Clarence Deja, Don Craney and Cliff Ahrens.

Falco noted that the Felician Order has 4,000 women dedicated to serving humanity. Also introduced were Sister Mary Gonzago from Rome, vice general, who was accompanied by Sisters Mary Antonell, Mary Anselm and Mercedia. Other guests were Sen. Jerome Martin from Whitelaw and his wife; and Mrs. Mildred Zimmerman of the Wisconsin Division of the Aging, Madison.

Sister Claude publicly commended her staff and mentioned how the home began in 1887 housing both the aged and orphans and later became the home for the "forgotten generation."

Grand Opening

Hal's Red Owl Store Remodeled

The newly-remodeled Hal's Red Owl store at 2719 Calumet Ave., Manitowoc, is celebrating a grand opening beginning this Tuesday and continuing for three weeks.

During this time shoppers will receive free gifts, enjoy snacks and may register for prizes which include a boy's bicycle, a girl's bicycle and a portable television set.

The corporate store of the Red Owl Corp. was built in 1957, but was purchased from the corporation in 1966 by Harold Lindell of Kaukauna, who now operates the store locally. Cal Olson is the present manager and Donald Guetschow is assistant manager.

The concrete addition, measuring 55 by 130 feet and containing 85,800 cubic feet of space, was erected to the east of the existing building. In addition to the new construction, the entire store was remodeled by increasing the width of the aisles, installing new shelving, adding two additional check-out counters, increasing the size of the meat department and adding an entire aisle of frozen food compartments. The decor is done in basic white with mustard and orange accents.

Olson said the revamped store now has a bake-off bakery department (the frozen bakery is shipped in, then baked in ovens at the store to insure freshness), a toy and game department, a larger health and beauty aide department, a gourmet section and a complete section of magazines, greeting cards and books.

Olson indicated that the store now also has a postal substation where customers may mail packages, letters and purchase stamps. Also added to the building is a second entrance way, with shoppers now able to enter either from the south or east.

"We are proud of our beautiful new store. We are growing along with the community and will continue to do so," Olson said.

The manager also noted that the Red Owl Store is included in the food stamp program. Hours at the store will continue to be the same — Hal's Red Owl is open 24 hours a day.

AISLES GALORE — Customers entering the newly remodeled Hal's Red Owl Store, 2719 Calumet Ave., Manitowoc, will be greeted by friendly, smiling clerks at the five new, enlarged check-out counters. DELECTABLE GOODIES — One of the new additions to the completely remodeled Hal's Red Owl Store at Manitowoc is the bake shop where shoppers may purchase fresh bakery daily. Cal Olson, store manager, said the bake shop is actually a bake-off bakery. The frozen sweet rolls, cookies, breads, pies, etc., are shipped to the store and baked fresh daily in the ovens at the Manitowoc store.

Wildflowers Not for Picking

MADISON — When you walk in the woods this spring, take away only your photographs and memories and leave only your footprints.

Several Wisconsin wild plants are protected by law and many more should be picked only in moderation, says Bob Ellarson, University of Wisconsin-Extension wildlife ecologist.

Wisconsin Statutes note it is unlawful to collect, destroy, or pick, on public land or private land without the written permission of the owner, any trillium, wood lily, trailing arbutus, turk's cap lily, American lotus, bittersweet, pitcher plant, or member of the orchid family (including ladyslippers).

These wildflowers are rare in Wisconsin and their brilliant colors and interesting shapes make them even more attractive to the unknowing collector.

The trillium, so called because it has three petals to a flower and three leaves to a plant, is found in woodlands. Species of orchids and ladyslippers are found in all kinds of habitat, from dry pine barrens to wetlands. Bittersweet is a woodland vine, noted for its orange berries. The wood lily is a wildflower of prairies and oak openings. The pitcher plant finds a home in bogs, while the trailing arbutus prefers the northern coniferous forests.

Wisconsin is one of the few states that has a wildflower protection law, Ellarson says. It was passed in 1923. People then were concerned that indiscriminate picking and grazing were causing the decline of these attractive plants. Today, these and other land use practices continue to make wild plants even more rare.

Habitat loss is the one major factor contributing to the disappearance of wildflowers from certain areas of the state, Ellarson says. Land drainage destroys bogs and marshes — habitat for pitcher plants, ladyslippers, water lilies and American lotus, as well as waterfowl and water-living animals like muskrats and beaver.

Grazing, although reduced in Wisconsin, still destroys much of the ground cover in farm woodlands. This reduces trillium, jack-in the-pulpit and other woodland wildflower habitat.

Roadsides, once the haven for prairie and field wildflowers like the compass plant, prairie clover, liafris, and butterfly weed, are sprayed with herbicides for weed and brush control. In addition to killing destructive weeds, the herbicides kill all broad-leaved plants in the sprayed area, including the wildflowers.

Remember Washington's Birthday 52 years ago?

Thursday's blizzard started as a near repetition to the Feb. 22, 1922, sleet storm causing millions of dollars of damage to high power electric and telephone lines through the center part of Wisconsin from Sheboygan County to Brown County to the Mississippi Valley in the area of La Crosse. Telephone poles lay in the fields like match sticks, early residents remember.

The communications systems at Manitowoc and Two Rivers were hard hit. At Two Rivers the former Two Rivers Telephone Co. spent almost a year to repair damage and return its lines to normal.

VOYAGUERS ARRIVE — Wearing historically authentic clothing and using replica birch bark canoes, members of the Jolliet - Marquette re - enactment voyage arrived Thursday afternoon at the Manitowoc lakefront adjacent to Red Arrow Park. Explorers 2 Land Here

For a brief one hour period Thursday afternoon, an estimated 700 Manitowoc area residents were transported back to a point 300 years in history when the members of the famous Jolliet-Marquette exploration team visited these shores.

They watched in a kind of silent awe as seven men and a boy landed a pair of 20 foot birch bark canoes at the south side lakefront in the vacinity of Red Arrow Park.

The hardy band is re-enacting the four months, 3,000 mile voyage made in 1673 to explore what was then known as the "Illinois Country." Their journey, which is expected to be the subject of a commentary on national television sometime next year, ends Wednesday at Green Bay.

Leading the dashing group ashore weje Reid Lewis, a 32 year old French teacher in the Elgin (Ill.) high school system who portrays the French-Canadian explorer Louis Jolliet, and the Rev. Charles T. McEnery, 37, a Jesuit priest from Chicago who plays the role of the famed missionary Pere Jacques Marquette.

After securing their canoes on the beach, the voyageurs put on an engrossing 45 minute presentation from the rear of a small pickup truck. It was like a living history lesson for the many school children in the crowd that pressed close to the truck.

The men sang French-Canadian voyageur songs and told about the months of preparation and work that went into making their clothing, canoes and other accessories as authentic as possible.

They also left the crowd with a message of brotherhood and peace and the importance of fighting to protect the great waterway systems of the Midwest from pollution.

Dean Campbell, 39, an historical interpreter for the Illinois State Department of Conservation, explained how he made the knee length sailcloth pants, loose fitting blouses with a colorful sash and moccasions worn by the men.

It was common practice among the voyageurs to go barefoot. "Wet feet and wet clothing were part of being a voyageur," he explained.

Campbell said each member of the party had three units of clothing and that the men "found them as functional as the original voyageurs did."

At Manitowoc, another crew member recalled, the voyageurs were "finishing up a 3,000 miles voyage in which they have examined the entire heartland of the richest land in the world."

Explorers

Despite its relatively large size, Jim Phillips said, Lake Michigan is only part of a Great Lakes waterway system that holds one fifth of the world's fresh water supply.

On a more serious note, Phillips reminded the audience that "we as a civilized society have not yet learned to live within the plan of nature."

"We cannot dump pollution and sewage into lakes and still have clean water," he added. "We have talked to many people on this voyage and the answer we get is that they are really concerned and really interested about preserving our environment."

Father McEnery talked about the spirit of peace and brotherhood that developed between the voyageurs and the Indian tribes they encountered on their 17th century trip.

"A Peoria Indian chief gave the voyageurs two gifts to insure their success," he said. "One was a peace pipe recognized by all the tribes in the Algonquin nations. The other gift was one of his sons to serve as a guide and interpreter and to stand for himself."

The Indian boy, portrayed by 14 year old Jeff LeClerc of Elgin, Ill., was called "Le Petit Sauvage" (The Little (Savage) by the voyaugers.

The peace pipe was credited with saving the lives of the voyageurs on at least two occasions. Persons who smoked this pipe were bound by sacred ties of peace and brotherhood.

Holding a replica of the pipe aloft, Father McEnery said that "we should look back to that ceremony of peace and brotherhood between different peoples and different cultures."

After the presentation, the crew members signed autographs, set up camp and then were guests at a supper at a downtown restaurant.

They departed about eight o'clock Friday morning for Kewaunee, their next stop. A turnout estimated at 1,000 to 1,200 persons greeted their arrival at Sheboygan Wednesday.

Pioneer Corner Museum Center of Attraction for 125th Anniversary

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The City of New Holstein is commemorating its 125 birthday this year, with special events slated to commence in August. The following is an account of the New Holstein Historical Society's efforts to maintain the Pioneer Corner Musuem, among attractions of this Calumet County community.)

NEW HOLSTEIN — Much of New Holstein's heritage continues to be preserved for the enjoyment of others.

The New Holstein Historical Society has as one of its most energetic undertakings the establishment of the Pioneer Corner Museum.

As the name implies, Pioneer Corner is filled with many items which were built or used by numerous German pioneer families, who founded New Holstein 125 years ago.

The museum, located on Market Square in downtown New Holstein, has in itself some historical significance. Built in the late 1870s or 1880s, it served as a general store for many years, becoming a center for families as far west as Lake Winnebago, and to the east as far as School Hill and St. Nazianz.

In 1901 the building was purchased by Peter C. Iversen Sr. from James Griem, who operated it as Peter Iversen & Sons, later becoming Iversen Bros. In 1912, Iversen transferred the business to John D. Iversen, who continued the business on his own.

The building remained in the Iversen family until John's son, Dr. Lothar Iversen transfered the main brick portion to the Historical Society in 1970. Subsequent transfers of the north additions and the lot were made in 1971-72.

The Historical Society was chartered by the State in 1962, after much planning and hard work had gone into its establishment. Among its organizers were the late Rudolph Paulsen, and Albert Jochimsen, currently vice president of the society.

His co-workers have dubbed Jochimsen museum "curator" for his tireless effort in obtaining and preparing the museum contents, and for his vast knowledge of local history.

The Pioneer Corner was opened in 1964, when Dr. Iversen offered free use of his building to the Society for storage and display. Prior to this, the Society had stored memorabilia from various donors in Turner Hall. The move was necessitated when the hall portion of the building was razed.

For those old enough to remember, one is surrounded by an air of nostalgia upon entering the Pioneer Corner. For the younger visitor, a tour through the museum proves to be an interesting and educational experience.

Most of the museum's contents, dating from the early 1950s to the early 1900s have been donated to the Historical Society. A few are on loan.

Many of the treasures have been incorporated into units, which line the walls of the main section of the building.

Among these is a Victorian style living room, furnished with the appropriate furniture and accessories. As in all units, each piece is identified, and a brief history is provided. Names of the donors are also listed. This information is gathered and prepared for typing by Jochimsen, who meticulously catalogs each item.

Continuing the tour, the next unit is the bedroom, complete with old rugs and bed spreads. Hanging above the bed is a piece of handwork, created by an early settler, giving the Lord's Prayer in German.

Also quartered here are a kitchen, playroom, laundry room, old school room, general store, a meat market from the 1880s, an antique dentist's chair and an organ. The organ has sheet music for a song written about New Holstein.

Tourists may also view glass display cases, several old cigar boxes, old pictures and records, and signs depicting some of the early industries.

One of the most unusual treasures, a child's coffin, is just inside the south section. The coffin was built on ship between Germany and America in 1854. Also to be found are old firearms, handmade tools and farm implements.

Another memorable display is a copy of an 1848 ship's manifest, which includes the names of 66 persons destined for Wisconsin. Many of them settled here. The original will play an important role in the anniversary celebration.

Many display counters tell the story of some of those early families, including the Funkes, Schildhauers, Lausons, Rees and the Timms.

A rustic "Pioneer Corner" sign, designed and created by Mrs. Richard Cooley, a society charter member and treasurer, hangs in one of the front windows.

Each of the museum's more than 1,550 articles has been catalogued by Jochimsen, cleaned throughly, but remain in a natural state. Duplicate items are stored in the museum and are rotated occasionally.

The museum is maintained by membershiips in the society (numbering about 140), through gifts received and with the $600 the society receives annually from the city.

To share the fruits of its labor with other lovers of local history, the society has opened its museum on 1:30-4:30 p.m. Sundays during the summer months, until Aug. 26. Reservations can be made for tours.

The museum will also be open all day during the 125th anniversary celebration's "Founders' Day" and Industrial Open House Aug. 24.

Society members have been involved in restoring the William Ree log cabin. Located two miles east of here, the cabin was built by Ree's grandfather in 1857, and was occupied until several years ago by Ree.

Although it is the property of Outdoors Inc., the sportsmen's club gave the society permission to use the building to establish an historical place of interest.

A crew headed by Jochimsen and Ted Boockmeier, society president, have continued to make repairs, and are in the process of roofing the building with cedar shingles, cut at Belgium, using Jerome Peiffer's steam engine. With a new supply of materials, the crew hopes to finish the project soon.

The society also plans to take an important role in the restoration and maintenance of the Timm homestead, after final details between the Timm family and City have been completed. The Common Council accepted the Victorian style home from the Timms, to serve as an historical landmark. The home was built in 1892 on the corner of Railroad Street and Wisconsin Avenue.

In addition to Boockmeier and Jochimsen, other officers include Mrs. Hartwell J. Paul, secretary; and Mrs. R.P. Cooley, treasurer; both of whom have held their respective offices since the society's inception.

Remaining members of the board of directors are Eugene Wulff, Mrs. Pearl Muenster, Richard Griem and Orin Lindemuth, charter president of the historical society, who served in the capacity for several years.

Doctors Seek Approval of Revenue Bond

Two local doctors will appear before the Manitowoc Common Council Monday night to request council approval of a revenue bond issue to finance construction of a nine suite medical clinic complete with pharmacy and laboratory facilities.

Doctor Richard R. Whereatt and Harry E. Schaefer plan to erect the building at the corner of North Sixth and York streets.

The building site and adjacent parking facilities will be on the former Windiate House property and municipally owned parking lot property.

Mayor Anthony V. Dufek said the doctors are seeking bonds in the amount of $400,000 to construct and furnish the building.

Under state law, a municipality may issue revenue bonds to finance purchase of land and building construction for an industrial or business enterprise.

Dufek said the revenue bond law was recently liberalized to include such projects as clinics and shopping centers.

Because the bonds are exempt from federal taxes, they provide long term capital to private firms at low interest rates. The city has no fiscal obligations to the project, Dufek emphasized.

This is the second local organization to take advantage of the state revenue bonding law.

Last May the council approved bonds in the amount of about $200,000 to help finance expansion of the Kaufman Mfg. Co. plant at 547 S. 29th St.

Residents Digging Out After Savage Blizzard

Lakefront Battered by Waves, Winds

Roads and Streets Reopened; Much Work Remains

Residents in the Manitowoc-Two Rivers area were digging out Tuesday from a savage spring blizzard that snarled traffic, forced the closing of schools and business firms and caused damage along the lakefront.

Main roads and streets in the area were reported open Tuesday morning but much work remained to be done in the way of cleanup operations.

The snow, carried by strong north-northeast winds, caused considerable drifting and made driving treacherous for area motorists during the nighttime hours.

The storm, worst of the 1972-73 winter season, dropped between eight and nine inches on the area. Officials estimated that the snow was as deep as 10 inches in some areas.

Near Motel Project

The strong winds combined with high water levels to give the lakeshore a daylong battering.

Water reached to within 10 feet of Highway 42 in the vicinity of the new Carleton-on-the-Lake project in the Two Rivers area.

County Highway Dept. crews had dumped an estimated 400 to 500 cubic yards of stone along the area to protect the highway up to Monday night. The stone was hauled to the scene from the Rockwell Lime Co. Work at the scene will continue until further orders from the state, according to County Highway Commissioner Walter Handl.

Handl also reported that the state will shortly let a contract for rebuilding portions of the lakeshore along Memorial Drive which has been eroded or washed out by wave action. Rock and other fill material will be used.

At the height of the storm Monday, the heavy seas tossed boulders and other debris onto Cleveland Avenue near the Little Manitowoc River. Department of Public Works employes used about two truckloads of rip rap to fill in a hole near the Cleveland Avenue bridge.

Washed Out

The area along Highway 10 between the sewage treatment plant and Manitowoc Public Utilities also "washed out pretty badly," according to Street Supt. Paul Steckmesser. Three or four truckloads of rubble were dumped along the area for protection purposes.

County Highway Dept. crews were pulled in between 6 and 7 p.m. Monday after a daylong battle against blowing and drifting snow. They went out again at 3 o'clock this Tuesday morning and continued snow removal operations.

While most main roads were plowed, Handl said, it will be necessary to go over them again later for widening.

Full Operation

In the City of Manitowoc, street crews went into full operation at about midnight Monday and continued to work through the morning hours Tuesday. Two large four wheel drive trucks remained on duty during the night to combat heavy drifting and keep open major streets.

Work on removing snow windrows from the middle of downtown streets was to continue up to Tuesday afternoon and then will be resumed at 2 a.m. Wednesday, according to Steckmesser.

Crews will make a second sweep of the city starting at 12 o'clock midnight Tuesday, he said.

The heavy wind gusts doused the gas fed torch on the veterans monument on South 21st Street Monday, according to one observer.

Relighting System

A spokesman for the Wisconsin Fuel and Light Co. said the torch was equipped with an automatic relighting system designed to restore service in a matter of a minute or so.

This apparently was only the second time that the torch had been extinguished. On the first occasion, the spokesman said, children dumped sand in the torch and smothered the flame.

The spokesman also reported that the utility firm received more than 20 calls from homeowners in Manitowoc and the rural areas where high winds had blown out pilot lights on gas heating units. There were six to eight similar calls involving mobile homes in the northeast section of the city and in the Cleveland area, he added.

Most Expensive

Dollar-wise, according to Two Rivers City Engineer Jerry Kulhanek, Monday's blast was the most expensive of the 1972-73 season.

"We started plowing at about 5 p.m. and began picking up snow at midnight," Kulhanek said.

Like other communities, Two Rivers had its share of downed trees and power wires. The most serious outage occured at about 2 p.m. on the east side of town.

According to Donald Meneau of the Water and Light Dept., a large pine tree was blown down on the 1900 block of Jackson Street, cutting off electrical service to approximately 35-to-4 homes on the southwest corne of the east side.

At 11:30 a.m. another falle tree severed electrical servic at a residence on the 3200 bloc of Parkway Boulevard.

No Injuries

Despite the storm the Manitowoc County Sheriff-Traffic Dept had no reports of injuries due t traffice accidents up to the lat morning hours Tuesday. The de partment's officers put in gruelling 24 hours without thi added problem, however, an conditions due to the storn meant at least another 24 hour of such duty still ahead.

The Sheriff-Traffic Dept. re ceived a call at 9:09 a.m. Mor day that a trailer with boat had been blown off Highway 14 at the Silver Creek bridge.

The Department received report at 9:25 a.m. that a schoo bus kept stalling out enroute t Denmark on Highway 141. bus was reported in the ditc north of Branch at 3:55 p.m and another one was reporte stuck at Alverno at 5:56 p.m.

The first of a series of trac tor-trailer mishaps in the Mari bel Caves area on Highway 14 was reported at 9:26 a.m. Monday. A tractor-trailer unit jack knifed at Devil's River on 141 a 10:05 a.m. and at 12:44 p.m there were three such units stuck in that area at one time.

Maribel Caves

The Manitowoc Ambulance Service was summoned to Mari bel Caves Tavern on Highwa 141 at 11:12 am. where a ma was having difficulty breathing.

A Sheriff-Traffic Dept. squad car driven by Officer James Meidl and a Manitowoc County Hghway Dept .snow plow provided an escort about 1 p.m. for a convoy of cars transporting Miss America, Terry Ann Meeuwsen, and three contestants for the Miss Two Rivers Beauty Contest from Fox Hills Inn to Two Rivers for this event.

A traffic jam developed on Highway 10 north of Grimms at 1:24 p.m.

A car and a Manitowoc County Highway Dept. grader were involved in an accident at 4:40 p.m. on County Trunk G, north of Maple Grove. There were no injuries, however.

Center 'Dormitory'

The lounge at the University of Wisconsin, Manitowoc County campus, was convered into a dormitory by five students from outside the Manitowoc area, and four faculty members, when it became evident they would not reach their homes. Many other students from Two Rivers and the rural areas moved in with friends for the night.

The weather conditions caused postponement until 1 p.m. Wednesday of the funeral of Mrs. Don Kotche, the former Sue Lindemann of Manitowoc, at Casperson Funeral Home, Sister Bay.

Wreckers Called

As the day passed and conditions worsened, there were more demands for wrecker service.

Most drivers had taken of their snow tires and encountered treacherous driving conditions on the snow-packed highways over the icy foundations Cars slid off county roadways and in the city when trying to maneuver turns skidded into snowbanks.

Adding to the bad conditions was the breaking off of branches which were hurled through the air by the forceful winds.

While Mother Nature created problems for workers and those who had to be outdoors, birds also suffered from the buffeting from the northeasterly winds.

Mother Nature She Certainly Fooled Lakeshore Area

By MICHAEL DONOVAN
Herald-Times-Reporter
Staff Witer

They say it is not nice to fool Mother Nature, but the Old Gal apparently got her bearings rearranged Monday as she dumped between eight and nine inches of snow on the lakeshore area.

The storm closed Manitowoc Monday as was evidenced by a report from Capt. Robert Schmidt of the Manitowoc Police Dept. who said there were no burglaries or other major incidents reported in the city during the night.

Even the criminals stayed home!

Manitowoc police reported only eight minor accidents Monday as a result of the heavy snows. Of these, three were non-reportable (under $200 damage), while the remainder were reportable but no injuries resulted.

As lakeshore area residents awoke Tuesday morning to find themselves stranded, almost any conceivable mode of transportation was brought to mind.

Manitowoc police said they were receiving numerous telephone calls asking if snowmobiles were allowed to be operated on city streets. The answer, of course, was a resounding "No!" (there is a state statute against it), but one Manitowoc resident got the better of our legislators.

Officer William Tech said Tuesday morning he had received a telephone call from a Manitowoc resident asking if he could ride his horse in the city.

As it turns out, the resident really needs no permission as there is no city ordiannce banning horses on city streets, according to Cept. Morton Swerdlow. s a matter of fact, it was reported that horses have the right of way. Now that's a horse of a different color!

Even the cab companies in Manitowoc were having their share of problems Tuesday

NEW INTERIOR — St. Anne Catholic Church, Francis Creek, has undergone an interior face lifting. Church Interior Renovated

FRANCIS CREEK — The placing of the statue of St. Anne in the vestibule of St. Anne Catholic Church last week marked the final touch in the renovation of the 101 - year - old church, where the Rev. John Haen has been pastor for 15 years.

Architects for this project were Tilleman Associates, Green Bay. Work began March 12, 1973, with the tearing up of the original wooden floor, which was replaced with concrete. This work was done by R. J. Zolper Co. of Green Bay. The company also took down the choir loft, lowered ceilings in both sacristies and did some sidewalk work, steps and landings.

One sacristy has been converted to the organ and choir room, with the doorway from sanctuary widened and arched.

The eight foot cross hanging in the sanctuary was made by Mr. Kitslaar, from the old flooring. The wood carved Corpus on it was imported from Italy. Where the high altar stood, chairs for priest and servers are on a slight elevation.

The side altars are replaced by two walnut tables, matching in design the table on the main altar. A new lectern in this design also graces the sanctuary. The Blessed Sacrament tabernacle reposes on the table on the right side, and the baptismal font on the table on the left. Tables, lectern and cabinet in vestibule, were designed and built by Eugene Holly of Shoto Fixture & Supply, Inc.

Carpeting throughout the church is in a gold tweed, installed by H. J. Martin, Green Bay, and new pews of butcher block oak were purchased from Ossit Church Furniture, Janesville.

The entire church is painted a buff color in three tones. The multi - color beams across the ceiling and the same colorful strips outlining the windows along the side walls, were merely washed at this time.

They were originally painted about 1935. Painting was in charge of Kitslaar, Inc., Green Bay. They also washed the stations, and re - touched some statues.

The hot water heating system is new. One boiler controls heat for the floor on the main body of the church, the other heats the vestibule, sanctuary, sacristy and choir room. Six thermostats are used for the heating system, which was installed by Morrow Mechanical Co., Green Bay.

The church was re - wired, adding more circuits, with new light fixtures, sanctuary flood lights, recessed lighting in sacristy and choir room, installed. Outdoor lights were added also. This work was done by E. J. Menchal, Francis Creek.

The loud speaking system was enlarged. Two microphones were added, and there are three 12 inch speakers. Work done by Norbert Ewen, Francis Creek.

Curtains and drapes were done by Sigman's, Manitowoc. Door hardware and railings by Frank Check Builders, and sheet metal work by A. W. Wranovsky, both of Francis Creek.

Upon leaving the church, one sees three large statues on a platform, where the choir loft was.

Training Center Turns Out Cooks

Girl Scouts galore have been cooking up something at the new Training Center of Wisconsin Fuel and Light Co., - Manitowoc.

Since the center opened in February, some 100 Junior and Cadette Girl Scouts from the area have attended cooking classes conducted by Miss Ellen Eldredge, home economist at the facility.

Fifth and sixth grade Junior Cadette Girl Scouts worked on their basic cook-badge requirements, including nutrition and meal planning, measuring and preparation techniques and equipment identification. Use and care of the gas range and the importance of energy conservation were included in the lessons.

Each of the three sessions included a demonstration period by Miss Eldredge, actual kitchen work and taste testing of foods prepared. The last session was climaxed with a simple meal preparation including tacos, applesauce-raisin bars and a beverage.

Scouts are also required to set the table properly and exhibit their best table manners in order to fulfill etiquette requirements for their badge.

Seventh, eighth and ninth grade Cadette Scouts worked at the Training Center to complete their advanced chef badge requirements. They were introduced to French cuisine, advanced kitchen skills and energy conservation in the home.

With the completion of her course, each Girl Scout received a certificate from the center.

Classes were coorinated with the help of Janet Crouch, Manitou Girl Scout Council Field Director. They will resume next fall at the center.

The Training Center is equipped with two kitchens and meeting and training facilities for company programs. In addition to the Girl Scout cooking classes, Miss Eldredge is involved in school programs, club and organization demonstrations and energy conservation presentations. PLACE SECOND — The Royal Knights Drum and Bugle Corps of Manitowoc, shown marching and maneuvering in Marquette Stadium, Milwaukee, placed second in class B competition Saturday evening during a show held in connection with the state American Legion convention. They competed against eight corps from Wisconsin. The Windjammers of Port Washington took first and the Belles of St. Mary's, Rhinelander, were second. The Royal Knights will appear Friday at the Silver Creek Firemen's picnic, Manitowoc, before leaving for weekend competitions in Flint and Saginaw, Mich. The local corps has begun to make its mark in competition not only in Wisconsin but throughout the midwest, but is faced with financial and other difficulties. According to Barry Zinkel, business manager of the corps, it faces a $16,000 deficit, has problems in keeping a place to rehearse due to criticism, lack of sponsors and inability to recruit more Manitowoc youth into the corps. Zinkel said the corps has youth from Green Bay already in the personnel and may move the corps to Green Bay.

The City of Manitowoc was taking toll today of loss in one of the worst storms that has ever swept the area, a veritable cloudburst which swept over it at midnight and lasted for more than two hours, flooding streets, washing out roads, inundating homes and in some cases forcing families to flee. Train service was crippled by washouts. George Siebold of Mishicot lost his life while attempting to open the village dam. Three men, E. Sogge, James Dorey and Elmer Elfner, were injured when their auto was washed into an open culvert at the Muth farm on Shoto road. A brother of the dead man, Paul Siebold, suffered a broken leg when he was carried into the river torrent while trying to help his brother at the dam. Fire added to the horrors of the storm when lightning struck properties both in the city and in the rural areas. There was a heavy toll of dead stock which strew banks of area rivers . . . Mgr. McCormick of the local exchange of the Wisconsin Telephone Co. said repairs were rapidly being completed of damage to lines in the storm.

OLD MILL GONE — The historic mill at Clark Mills, Manitowoc County, is no more. It was destroyed by fire of unknown origin Tuesday evening. It was built in 1852 by Ira Clark and was owned by Orville Champagne, a Milwaukee police sergeant who had been remodeling the building as a retirement home. He had subsequently offered the mill for sale. The mill photo was provided by Henry Griese of First Securities Company of Manitowoc Inc., who was Champagne's realtor representative.

Landmark at Clark Mills

Grist Mill, Barn Burn

A landmark grist mill at Clark Mills and a large barn on Harpt Lake were leveled by fires of undetermined origin Tuesday afternoon and evening.

The mill, built in 1852 by Ira Clark on the bank of the Manitowoc River in the Town of Cato, was the focal point for a rural community which became known as Clark Mills. The fire in the mill was reported at 10:04 p.m.

The Valders, Whitelaw and St. Nazianz fire departments fought the blaze which destroyed the 36 by 80 foot structure owned by Orville Champagne, a patrol sergeant in the Milwaukee Police Dept. Seventh District.

Firemen at the scene said they believe the fire apparently started on the first floor near the east side of the structure. The building has been partially remodeled by Champagne.

The state fire marshal's office is participating in the investigation to determine the cause of the blaze. Contents of the mill were not immediately known and a loss figure had not been determined. It was not known whether the building or contents were insured.

The barn at Harpt Lake, 40 by 120 feet, was on the farm of the late Adolph Tuma. It burned to the ground about 2 p.m. Lost with the building were about 1,300 bales of hay valued at 90-cents per bale.

The hay was owned by Arnold Kind of Rt. 1, Maribel, who had rented space in the barn. The Maribel Fire Dept. fought the blaze, reported to the Manitowoc County Sheriff-Traffic Dept. at 2:02 p.m.

The barn was located just south of Tuma Lake Road and about a mile north of Highway 147, between Larrabee and Cooperstown in northern Manitowoc County.

Champagne, who bought the mill, located on an acre of land at Clark Mills, was in the process of restoring the historic landmark to as near its original state when it was built by Clark 122 years ago

The Louis Falge multi-volume "History of Manitowoc County" reported that Clark built a saw mill in 1850 on the opposite side of the Manitowoc River and then, two years later, began erection of the grist mill. The saw mill was believed to have been the first built in Manitowoc County; Clark also had a dam placed in the river to create the flow for the mill race to power the two mills was discontinued when the supply of logs diminished, and the structure gradually disintegrated. It burned a number of years ago.

Operation of the saw mill

Champagne bought the mill in 1971 and had started restoration, usually working weekends and during vacations. He had planned to occupy the mill after his retirement

The mill was placed on a 14 foot deep basement when it was built. The first floor had a 10-foot ceiling and the peak on the second floor rose another 24 feet.

Over the years ownership of the mill passed through several hands, the most recent before its demise, in 1952, being Nicolai Milling Co. By then it had shifted roles, from flour grinding to a farm feed mill. The previous operator was Frank Doubeck Milling Co.

The late Ruhl Kluczinske purchased the mill in 1967 and owned it until it was bought by Champagne in 1971. Champagne had offered the mill for sale this year, according to Henry Griese of First Securities Company of Manitowoc Inc., who had been Champagne's local realtor representative.

Champagne recalled, in conversation with a newspaper reporter several months ago, that during his research on the mill history he found yellowed ledgers that told when "flouring" was done in 1926. This was the process of using the stone at the mill to grind wheat and other cereal grains into flour.

Mr. and Mrs. Champagne had rewired and reroofed the building.

Reinhart Herzog New Manitowoc Fire Chief

Reinhart E. (Reine) Herzog, a 24 - year veteran with the department, was chosen to head the City of Manitowoc Fire Dept. Monday night.

Herzog's selection was announced at the Common Council meeting by Herbert A. Ansorge, former alderman and chairman of the Manitowoc Police and Fire Commisssion.

Herzog, 48, was picked from a field of 11 applicants, eight of whom were interviewed by the commission earlier Monday evening before it made the selection by secret ballot, Ansorge said. All but one of the 11 applicants were firemen and none was from out of the area.

The appointment is effective June 16. The job will pay $1,251 per month, plus fringe benefits.

Herzog succeeds James N. Danielson, who is retiring as chief after a 40 year career in the firefighting field.

Ansorge said the new chief had agreed to discontinue within 60 days active participation in the ambulance service and bus service which he operates.

Herzog joined the department Jan. 1, 1950, and later served as driver of Rescue Squad No. 1. He was promoted to lieutenant Jan. 1, 1968, and became a captain Oct. 1, 1972.

When contacted about his appointment to head the 58 member department, Herzog said: "I am appreciative of the honor and will certainly strive to do my very best.

"I feel fully confident that I will receive the cooperation of the entire department. I believe in real close cooperation with the Police Dept. and will do everything in my power to see that the protective services agencies work in harmony."

Herzog said he contemplated no major changes in department operation at this time.

Herzog and his wife, the former Jeannine Bruechert, have four children. The family resides at 2706 Clark St., Manitowoc.

The children include Nan, 22, a recent graduate from the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee who is employed as a nurse at St. Mary Hospital in that city; Charles, 19, who just completed his freshman year at Carroll College, Waukesha; Michael, 16, who will be a senior at Lincoln High School in the fall; Patrick, 9, who attends St. Paul Catholic Grade School.

Charles was co - captain of the 1972 - 73 Lincoln High School team which won the Fox River Valley Conference basketball championship and is pursuing the sport at Carroll.

Surprise Lauds Baugniet

MISHICOT — Nearly 300 persons, including business leaders, townspeople, area residents and operators of mink ranches throughout the country filled the Crystal Room of Fox Hills Inn and Country Club at Mishicot Wednesday to pay a surprise tribute to the community's No. 1 citizen.

The occasion was the 61st birthday of Florenz W. Baugniet, builder and chairman of the board of the Fox Hills Inn and Country Club complex and head of Baugniet Enterprises, including mink raising and other varied operations. A dinner program followed a cocktail hour, arranged and secretly planned by a committee called "Friends of Florenz," headed by James Anderle, Mishicot businessman.

To Baugniet, it was a complete surprise as indicated as he entered the resort facility door. Perhaps, his wife, former Evelyn Froelich of Two Rivers, may have been aware of the plans, but likewise seemed equally surprised.

Among the invited guests was Bishop Aloysius J. Wycislo of the Green Bay Catholic Diocese, who praised Baugniet's undertakings in his community and his contributions to the home parish. In closing he presented as a birthday gift to Baugniet ot a framed papal blessing given in a recent trip of the bishop to Rome.

Master of ceremonies for the occasion was Joseph P. Schmitt, president of the Manitowoc - Two Rivers Chamber of Commerce, who told the large gathering that the party came about because friends of Baugniet desired to do something nice for one who has helped to put Mishicot on the map and through his ventures added to the economy and also who has helped to give the community a positive image.

Schmitt noted that the "Friends of Florenz" committee grew to the point that all 290 of those attending were really a part of the committee. Since this event was planned as a surprise party, he added, no public advertising of the party took place.

A brother of Florenz, Bernard, recalled humorous incidents in childhood and young manhood involving the Mishicot business leader. Even in his early teens, he said, Florenz had an eye for business and was always willing to tackle anything gainfully.

Praising Baugniet for his achievements in the community was Donald Krajnik, village president.

Apparently, too emotional at the time to respond, Richard Baugniet spoke in behalf of his father.

Florenz Baugniet finally arose, however, saying:

"Thank you all for coming!"

The benediction was by the Rev. Earl Brouchoud, pastor of Holy Cross Catholic Church, Mishicot, and a longtime friend of Baugniet. The latter was one of the active members of the committee arranging the event.

Many Hobbies

'Retirement' Only Word To Detjen; Keeps Busy

By ED ARNDORFER
Heralf-Times-Reporter
Staff Writer

Milton (Milt) Detjen is a multi-talented man who has so many activities and hobbies that he is hard pressed to find time for all of them in his retirement years.

Detjen, 66, who retired in 1970 after a 30 year career as an organist in supper clubs and cocktail lounges, keeps busy in a variety of ways.

He composes books of sacred organ music and is an active member of the Manitowoc Senior Center where he plays the organ for special events, is co-director of the Senior Warblers male singing group and helps direct the annual minstrel show.

Detjen is adept at tooling leather and caning chairs and recently took up macrame, which is the art of knotting threads and cords in decorative patterns. He also likes to fish and play pool and has an extensive vegetable and flower garden at his home at 5005 Sunset Rd. in the summer months.

"There are so many things to do when you're retired," Detjen declared. "There's really no limit to the things you can learn because you have the time to learn. All you need to have is the desire."

A small, wiry man with an infectious enthusiasm for life, Detjen has learned to conserve his energy and take things easy since he was stricken with a heart attack at Sheboygan in 1966.

For 10 years following his graduation from Lincoln High School in 1925, Detjen was a serious student of the piano. He studied at conservatories in Milwaukee, Chicago and Los Angeles and spent two years in Italy under the guidance of the late Ignaz Friedman, famous pianist who was much admired by Victor Borge.

Despite his classical background, Detjen made his living as an organist playing popular songs and contemporary music in supper clubs and cocktail lounges.

For 10 summer seasons between 1948 and 1958, he was a regular performer at the Maxwelton-Braes Lodge at Baileys Harbor. The winter seasons from 1950 to 1955 found him playing at the Terrace Patio, Fort Lauderdale, Fla. During the period from 1948 until 1965, Detjen played in area establishments like the Supper Club at Manitowoc and Executive Inn at Sheboygan.

One of his fondest memories was serving as director of a 136 voice civic choral group which presented Handel's Messiah at Lincoln High School in 1934.

Detjen's career as a composer of sacred organ music dates back to 1939 when he authored a wedding march for his marriage to the former Dorothy Meyer at First German Evangelical Lutheran Church.

He later composed recessional and pre-service arrangements for the weddings of his two daughters, Mrs. Ted (Dianne) Reinemann of Reedsville and Mrs. Lawrence (Donna) Reimer, Whitewater Circle, Manitowoc.

To date Detjen has completed 13 books of organ music for weddings, funerals, festivals, preludes, offertories and postludes. All are based on hymn melodies.

He has six more books ready for release at the rate of two per year.

His organ compositions are used in more than 1,800 churches throughout the nation and also are available at music stores on a limited basis.

A main selling point, he said, is that the compositions have "a commonly recognizable theme based on church hymn tunes or related to hymn tunes."

To speed up his composition work and make it more economical, he purchased a special typewriter with 82 musical symbols that took him a year to master.

Detjen still plays the organ twice a month at Grace Lutheran Church, where he and his wife are members.

During the past few years Detjen has recorded on tape piano music which he studied years ago but never had an opportunity to pursue.

His tooled leather products are in demand locally. One of his most popular creations are zodiac emblems etched on leather pendants.

He is completing work on a floral design for a leather seat of an antique rocker owned by U.S. Federal Judge John Reynolds, Milwaukee.

As president of the Manitowoc Men's Garden Club, he is heading up plans to develop a flower garden on the Manitowoc Senior Center grounds this spring. In his own garden last summer, he raised 25 different flowers and two dozen varieties vegetables.

Time to a man like Milt Detjen is a precious commodity. After surviving a heart attack, he knows the value of life and makes the most of it on a day to day basis.
